Bonds Or No, County Will Build Hospital

Supervisors Serve Notice As Second Ballot Planned

The Marin County Board of Supervisors today took formal action to put a $2,250,000 bond issue on the ballot in November to construct a new county hospital and farm in Lucas Valley and at the same time served notice that if the bond issue is defeated again, the board intends to build the hospital anyway. Either an increase in the tax rate or lease-purchase financing will be used if the bond issues, defeated in June, goes down a second time.

The board, by unanimous action, instructed the county counsel to "prepare the necessary documents" to put the issue on the ballot and a separate resolution which would make known the board's intent to build the hospital under any circumstances.

"It is important that our committee be able to specifically point out to the public that they won't get out of paying for a new hospital by defeating the bonds," Mrs. Vera Schultz declared. "It is a statutory requirement that we furnish our old people with a safe place. What we have now is not safe. We can prove that."

The committee to which she referred is the Citizens Committee for the County Hospital Bonds, which functioned before the June election. The supervisors reactivated the same committee today, with Fred F. Enemark as its chairman and Daniel C. Davis as its treasurer.

The bond money would be used to construct a new county hospital, plans for which have already been drawn in Lucas Valley where the present hospital stands. The present aged building, of brick construction, has been condemned as an earthquake hazard.

County Pays For Article In Magazine

Marin County will pay $1,968.25 to have an article about Marin and Sonoma counties printed in the national trade journal 'Industrial Development," published in Atlanta, Ga.

Decision to spend the money was made today by the board of supervisors on the request of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation.

Foundation President Fred F. Enemark pointed out in a letter, the $5,382 article would be paid jointly by Marin, Sonoma County and Pacific Gas and Electric Co. PG&E would pay a quarter of the cost, with the rest split evenly between Marin and Sonoma.

Enemark said the article would "bring Marin's story direct to a select, nation-wide audience of 13,000 expansion minded industries and industrial locators." The cost would include 2,500 reprints of the article which the foundation could distribute, and since the article would be prepared by a magazine staff writer, it would have an objectivity and impact beyond what anything we prepared ourselves would have," he wrote.

Administrator D. A. Jensen reported his office had checked with Fresno County and with PG&E, both of which had had similar articles published. They were pleased and found the articles worth the money, Jensen said.

The supervisors agreed to allocate the county's share of the cost.

Pay Hike Voted County Employees

It's official! Marin County employees all get a $25 per month raise on Oct. 1.

The board of supervisors today passed a resolution formally setting up the new salary schedule for regular employees and new hourly rates, also affected by the pay increase. They had said earlier this would be done.

U.S. AIRMEN BEATINGS PROTESTED

Punish Persons Responsible, Lumumba Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States announced today it has demanded punishment of those responsible for the beating of an American Globemaster crew by Congolese soldiers in the central African state last weekend.

The State Department called on Premier Patrice Lumumba's Congo government to put a stop to "harassment" of United Nations personnel seeking to restore order to his troubled country.

Officials released the text of a strong U. S. protest note delivered in Leopoldville yesterday on the plane incident, which took place Saturday at Stanleyville.

Eight of the nine members of an American crew which had flown in Ethiopian United Nations troops were beaten with rifle butts, kicked and dragged over the ground, the note said, and all eight are in a hospital.

The note said "these men and their plane were bringing U.N. supplies to the U.N. forces at Stanleyville in support of efforts by the U.N. to help your country.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White told reporters, "we consider this a serious matter for which the Congo government should be held fully accountable."

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche was to leave Leopoldville today for New York to report on the attacks against the American airmen.

Bunche said an Ethiopian nurse saved three of the airmen. "She flung herself on a jeep taking them to prison," he said. "She was thrown off, but she chased the Congolese in a car. She managed to get word to an Ethiopian unit of the U.N. force.

Congo Troops Battle With Secessionists

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba faced a new challenge today in Kasai province, where his soldiers were reported battling tribal warriors backing a secessionist move.

United Nations forces meanwhile planned to take over control today of Belgium's big military base in Katanga province.

The last of the Belgian combat troops were pulling out for home or the neighboring trusteeship territory of Ruanda-Urundi, but several hundred Belgian army maintenance men were to remain until Belgian equipment is removed.

Under an agreement between the U.N. force and the Belgian government, only U.N. troops will be allowed to use Kamina's 100 million dollars worth of facilities, including one of the biggest runways in Africa. The idea is to keep Lumumba's troops from using the base as an invasion point against Katanga's secessionist premier, Moise Tshombe.

News of the fighting in Kasai was as confused as most reports out of the chaotic Congo in recent weeks.

Kasai Premier Pascual Ngalula told the Belgian News Agency that Baluba tribesmen had counterattacked with bows, arrows and spears against several hundred Congolese army troops who thrust into Kasai's rebellious "mining state" Arga three days ago and captured its capital, Bakwanga.

But auhtorities in nearby Katanga said any talk of a counter-offensive by the tribal warriors was propaganda put out by the anti Lumumba leaders seeking recognition of their independence movement.

Boy Informed Dog Not Rabid

A 9-year-old Ventura boy was a happy youngster yesterday when he learned the dog that bit him was alive and well, romping with children in Larkspur.

Billy Coleman, bitten on the foot Aug. 17 at Yosemite National Park, was about to begin a painful series of 21 rabies shots.

But the dog's owner, Dick Livingston of Los Angeles, visiting his mother, Mrs. Grace Slocum of 234 Hawthorne Avenue, Larkspur read about the boy's plight and immediately telephoned.

SAVED FROM DEATH—Kelly Colby, 14 months, of 1355 Lincoln avenue, San Rafael, fondles a doll today after being released from Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital where she was treated for swallowing a near-fatal dose of ant poison. (Independent-Journal photo)

TOT DRINKS 'SWEET STUFF'

Dash Saves Tiny Victim Of Poison

By JOHN CHAMBERS

An 80-mile-an-hour race against death saved the life of 14-month-old Kelly Colby of San Rafael yesterday.

The little brown-haired girl swallowed almost a bottle full of ant poison, containing what could have been a lethal dose of arsenic.

Tragedy and near-tragedy have plagued the family of A/2c Arthur M. Colby Jr. of 1355 Lincoln Avenue since he was assigned to the 78th Supply Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base last year.

With her daughter home from the hospital today, Colby's wife, Effie, recounted yesterday's hectic struggle to save little Kelly's life.

They had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Lynn Jackson at 1318 Lincoln Avenue, shortly after noon when Kelly snatched a bottle of sweet tasting ant poison from a window sill. Drinking it hastily, she walked over to show her mother.

Desperately the women poured salt water — the antidote prescribed on the label—down the girl's throat.

They tried to take her to the hospital in a car belonging to Mrs. Donna Woodlock who lives with the Colbys. The car was out of gas.

They called the San Rafael Police Department, and Sgt. Louis Foster sped to the house.

Bundling the mother and her child into the patrol car, Foster headed for the hospital.

With red light and siren going, they roared into Hamilton Air Base Hospital in a few minutes.

"We were passing everything on the road," Foster said. "I knew I had to get the girl help fast."

Doctors pumped Kelly's stomach and kept her overnight for observation. She had drunk seven cubic centimeters of arsenic, they reported. They released her this morning.

The Colbys moved here from Newburyport, Mass., last year.

Their second child died of pneumonia four days after birth last May.

In January, an unknown prankster fired a .22 caliber bullet through their bedroom window, missing Colby's head by inches.

County Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham said the project is the second phase of realignment of Lucas Valley Road. Realignment from Highway 101 to Miller Creek Road has already been completed.

A total of $61,800 has been set aside for the project, including $33,356 in federal aid secondary funds, $24,144 in state matching funds and $4,300 in county funds.

Mrs. Epidendio Backed By Larkspur Chamber

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce last night endorsed Mrs. Jane Epidendio for appointment to the Larkspur City Council.

Mrs. Epidendio, co-owner with her husband of the Rainbow Market in Larkspur, was endorsed as a representative of the Larkspur business community.

She is seeking the council seat left vacant by the resignation of Mayor H. H. (Steve) Wheeler, to take effect Sept. 6. Next regular meeting of the council will be Sept. 7, although the council will meet in special session at 8 p.m. tomorrow to set a 1960-61 tax rate.

Mrs. Epidendio failed election to the council by five votes in April.

Another front-runner among candidates for appointment to the council is Ward H. Austin, president of College of Marin and a former council member.

Payola Banned; Wage Measure Talks Bogged

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON—The House completed congressional action today on a bill to outlaw payola, rigged television quiz shows and other broadcasting abuses.

By voice vote, two Senate amendments were adopted and the bill sent to the White House.

The bill makes it illegal for anyone to fail to disclose that he has accepted payola to broadcast material or who participates in rigging a radio or TV "contest of intellectual knowledge." It allows the Federal Communications Commission to fine broadcasting stations up to $10,000 for violations.

DOMINICAN SUGAR

The House swiftly passed legislation to give President Eisenhower limited authority to cut down a "windfall" sugar import quota for the Dominican Republic.

The legislation now goes to the Senate.

The legislation was called up on the House floor by unanimous consent and passed without debate.

Congress sent to the White House a $3,969,985,000 appropriation bill containing funds to begin construction of 55 new water development projects throughout the country. President Eisenhower had requested funds for only 37 new projects. Congress turned him down on five, including $300,000 for Santa Cruz harbor in California, but voted money he didn't request for 23 new projects.

COMPROMISE FAILS

Senate-House conferees, meanwhile, were bogged down over a compromise minimum wage bill. Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, agreed to pare down his Senate-passed bill to provide a $1.15 per hour minimum instead of $1.25. But he failed to win House members' approval of other portions of his measure.

His bill would extend coverage to 4 million additional workers. He has made it plain he will not accept a much weaker House-approved bill that House conferees refused to abandon in conference.

Negotiators, however, agreed to try again this afternoon.

Sen. Wayne Morse, (D-Ore.), took a dim view of chances for passage of a minimum wage bill.

Assassins Believed Hiding Out In Syria

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—King Hussein tonight charged the United Arab Republic with "direct complicity" in the time bomb assassination of Premier Hazza Al-Majali.

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—The assassins who killed Premier Hazza Al-Majali yesterday with two time bombs actually were trying to murder King Hussein and his entire government, authoritative sources said today.

There were indications the assassins fled to Damascus, Syria. Observers said an Amman radio report that "Damascus already is harboring the murderers" implied a charge the bombings were the work or, or at least approved by, president Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Wide spread arrests were reported in Jordan.

(In London, Lt. Gen. Sir John Glubb, the former Glubb Pasha who created and trained the famous Arab Legion, said Hussein's life was in "grave danger."

("Egypt has been making constant and bitter personal attacks against the dead prime minister," he said. "I don't say that they organized this attack . . . the propaganda gave extremists the courage to make the attempt.")

The bombs killed 11 persons and injured 85 others, five critically. Thirty-five of the 85 injured were hospitalized. The others were treated for minor injuries and released.

(In Washington President Eisenhower called the assassination of Al-Majali a "wanton criminal act." The President expressed his deep regret about the prime minister's death in a personal message to Hussein.)

Both the bombs which exploded yesterday, destroying much of the foreign ministry building, apparently were timed to explode during a visit to the building by King Hussein whose cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, was assassinated in 1958.

The first bomb, which shattered the right wing of the three-story building, exploded in Majali's office. He was in the cabinet room next door when the bomb exploded an hour and a half after the scheduled start of a cabinet meeting.

Missing Pair Have Codes, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Democratic leader John W. McCormack said today he has information which leaves no doubt that two missing employees of the hush-hush National Security Agency fled to Russia with valuable information about secret U. S. codes.

At McCormack's request, chairman Francis E. Walter, (D-Pa.) of the House committee on un-American activities promptly ordered a preliminary inquiry into the disappearance. The two two men were Bernon F. Mitchell, a former resident of San Rafael, and William H. Martin of Ellinsburg, Wash.

The Defense Department said on Aug. 5 that the two probably had gone behind the Iron Curtain. But it said then they had no information which would be "prejudicial" to the United States if it fell into Soviet hands.

McCormack said he had been told by "unsually reliable sources" that loss of the code information "is far more serious than any official has publicly admitted.

In a letter to Walter, McCormack said he understood the men "were involved with Soviet and other foreign codes and that they know a great deal about the machinery and procedures pertaining to such codes and that their knowledge and experience in this highly specialized field would be extremely valuable to the Kremlin."

Mitchell, 31, and Martin, 29, both mathematicians with the security agency dropped out of sight on June 24. Shortly afterward, it was disclosed they they had flown to Mexico City and then to Cuba.

U.S. Swimmer Bests Record In 400 Meters

ROME (AP) — Alan Somers, 19-year-old American champion from Indianapolis, broke the Olympic record with a 4:19.2 closing in a qualifying heat in the men's 400-meter freestyle swimming competition today. (See also stories on page 12, 13.)

Somers' record-smashing performance followed another American setback when Germany's Ingrid Kramer completed a sweep of the women's diving events over the favored American, Paula Jean Pope of Santa Ana, Calif. (See picture, page 10.)

Somers bettered the new mark of 4:21 set by Japan's Tsuyoshi Yamanaka in today's first trial heat.

Knee Infection Puts Nixon In Hospital

Candidate To Keep Off Feet For Two Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard B. Nixon is hospitalized with a knee infection, but plans to keep busy working out campaign schedules and speeches he will use when he gets out in about two weeks.

Nixon was admitted to Walter Reed Army Hospital yesterday for antibiotic treatment of his left knee, injured when he bumped an automobile door on a campaign trip to Greensboro, N. C., on Aug. 17.

His press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said the hospitalization was a precautionary measure to prevent any possible permanent injury to the knee.

TO KEEP OFF FEET

Nixon is to keep off his feet, but is not expected to be confined to bed. He is in the hospital's spacious presidential suite, where President Eisenhower recuperated from two major illnesses.

The unexpected change of plans, which caught both Republicans and Democrats by surprise, forced cancellation of a number of appearances the vice president had arranged for the next two weeks.

Nixon had kept a series of appointments yesterday and although he mentioned the injury, said it would not interfere with his campaigning. He told newsmen the skin on his knee was broken and a lump had formed.

Tests made after fluid was taken from the knee Saturday disclosed what Klein said the doctors called "hemolytic staphylococcus aureus." This is an organism that causes infection destroying red blood cells. Sometimes called the "golden bug," it sometimes is difficult to treat with antibiotic drugs.

POTENTIAL DANGER

If it is confined to the skin of the knee, experts said it would not be serious. But if it reached the knee joit it could carry with it potential danger of brain, lung, kidney or liver damage.

It was reported that Klein, who did not announce Nixon's hospitalization until four hours after it occurred, had some difficulty in convincing the doctors to agree to publication of their diagnosis.

Klein was said to have insisted that everything possible be told about Nixon's ailment.

Klein said Dr. Raymond Scalettar of the department of medicine and Dr. John D. Blair, chief of orthopedics, ordered Nixon to keep off his feet for about two weeks.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, GOP national chairman, said he understood there was no fear the infection might spread to a cartilage if Nixon did not stay off his feet.

NOT MALIGNANT

Klein said that other than the infection in the knee, the vice president "has no complication."

In response to questions he said the injury was not malignant.

He said the whole knee was swollen. Other than the withdrawal of fluid, Klein said there had been no operation. He said Nixon walked into the hospital.

The vice president's illness will cancel out quickie trips and other campaign appearances that the Republican presidential candidate had planned. But Klein said it ought not to interfere with the start, about mid-September, of day-by-day campaigning.

Took Training

Garth D. Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Richards of 618 Oakdale Avenue, Corte Madera, graduated from recruit training Aug. 19 at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

Foes, Friends Wire Nixon Of Sympathy

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Expressions of regret have flowed in from both sides of the political fence to Vice President Richard M. Nixon, hospitalized wth a knee infection that may keep him off the campaign trail for two weeks.

Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy promptly wired regrets and said, "I look forward to seeing you on the campaign trail." Kennedy's running mate, Senate majority leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, sent flowers and regrets.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said, "The President regrets Mr. Nixon's ailment."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said, "We are all distressed."

Kennedy Picks Advisers On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy today promised hard-hitting criticism of Eisenhower Administration defense policy in his campaign, but said his criticism would be "responsible and constructive."

Kennedy discussed national defense as an issue in the 1960 campaign as he announced appointment of a four-man advisory committee on defense.

The four-man group will seek advice on a nonpartisan basis from "the ablest and most experienced authorities in the nation," he said.

Paul H. Nitze, director of the State Department policy planning staff during the final years of the Truman Administration, was named chairman of the group.

The other three are David K. Bruce, former undersecretary of state; Roswell L. Gilpatrick, Air Force undersecretary in the Truman administration, and James A. Perkins, vice president of the Carnegie Corp.

Powers' Wife Claims U.S. Fails Husband

WASHINGTON (AP)—Barbara Powers was back in Washington today, still saying she was not satisfied with what the United States government has done so far in behalf of her convicted U2 pilot husband, Francis Gary Powers.

Mrs. Powers declined to answer questions on her arrival last night.

She was sobbing yesterday in New York City when she started down the ramp of the plane on which she had flown from Paris. Two guards gripped her arms after she started to fall once but caught herself. After she had gone less than 10 feet she suddenly collapsed.

Policemen carried her inside where she quickly recovered.

"I've done all I can do. I really don't know what else to say," she said.

U.S.-British Accord On Air Bases Seen

LONDON (UPI) — The United States and Britain have reached agreement in principle on new terms for the use of British bases by American planes, diplomatic sources said today.

Only details remain to be settled before the accord is completed.

It was understood that Britain will be given a bigger say in the use of the bases, especially on the dispatch of American planes from these bases for reconnaissance missions close to the iron curtain.

The problem was spotlighted by the RB-47 plane incident last month. The plane shot down by the Russians over the Barents Sea on July 1 took off from a British base. The incident revived demands in Britain that British authorities have more voice in U.S. Air Force use of such bases.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan suggested to President Eisenhower the possibility of some "modifications or improvements" in the arrangements. Discussions were held in Washington last month and it was announced that the negotiators would report to their respective governments.

Debate Over World Court Splits Bar Association

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration efforts to win unqualified United States acceptance of the World Court provided the No. 1 controversy today at the annual meeting of the American Bar Assn.

Whether the ABA should support or oppose the administration position, set forth by President Eisenhower in a talk to the lawyers yesterday was a subject of debate in hotel corridors and closed committee sessions. The climax probably will come tomorrow in an open meeting of the House of Delegates. The two committees already have taken opposite stands on the issue.

Eisenhower asked the law group to reaffirm a 1947 policy statement calling for repeal of legislation known as the Connally reservation. This reservation allows the United States to decide in advance on a case-by-case basis whether it will be bound by the findings of the World Court.

The President said, in effect, that this sets a bad example for the rest of the world when the United States is attempting to take the lead in establishing a world rule of law.

Tug Boat Sinks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tugboat Deron sank when it collided with another vessel off Randall's Island in the East River today. The 13 crewmen aboard the tug were rescued. One was injured.

Dirksen Says Kennedy Failed On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen said today that Democratic presidential candidate John F. Kennedy has failed to live up to a post-convention promise to push farm legislation during the current session of Congress.

The Illinois Republican criticized Kennedy's position during a news conference which followed a breakfast meeting of GOP congressional leaders with President Eisenhower.

Dirksen said that on July 12, Kennedy was quoted as saying that one of the first things he would feel impelled to do when Congress went back into session Aug. 8 would be to introduce, sponsor "and pioneer" a farm bill.

"The shadow of adjournment is getting longer and I have seen no evidence of a farm bill, Dirksen said. "I have seen no evidence of . . . greatness in leadership as we move to a close."

Both Dirksen and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck took optimistic views of how the GOP fared during the post-convention congressional session.

Dirksen said he thought the Republicans "have performed rather nobly." Halleck said Republicans demonstrated willingness to legislate in certain fields. He noted the Democrats have a two-to-one majority in both houses.

"When they complain about a lack of legislative action, I I can't help but think a lot of people are going to say 'Why not?'" Halleck said.

Halleck said he was hopeful that Congress could adjourn Thursday, unless there is difficulty in reaching agreement on a bill to cut off the importation of 322,000 tons of sugar from the Dominican Republic.

Herter Reports Success At Hemisphere Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter returned today from the Western Hemisphere foreign ministers conference, terming the meeting "evidence of solidarity" in the Americas.

"It was a good performance," Herter said on his return from San Jose, Costa Rica.

"There should be no question in anyone's mind as to the success of the meetings in strengthening the effectiveness of the inter-American system," he said.

"Through their representatives there, the peoples of the hemisphere expressed their determination to protect their heritage of freedom—not only from Sino-Soviet intervention, but also those within the hemisphere who would lend themselves as tools for such intervention."

Max Couldn't Find Hotel —But His Savings Find Him

OAKLAND (AP) — "I must have been like an absent-minded professor," said the man who left his $15,000 life savings in a New York hotel room and then couldn't find his hotel.

Maxim Radin, 79, a barber in California for 50 years, was to sail for his native Yugoslavia with his savings in a battered linen valise.

Radin arrived in New York a week ago Sunday and checked in at the Hotel Ashley. He paid $12 for two days' rent, unpacked and went for a walk.

"Then I couldn't find my way back," he told newsmen last night. "I couldn't even remember the name of the hotel."

He wandered around New York for two days looking for the Hotel Ashley. He went to police. They drove him around until he spotted what he thought was his hotel. But what he thought was his room was bare.

Radin was convinced he had been robbed of his valise containing $11,067 in travelers' checks, $3,800 in cash, $600 in $20 gold pieces, a bill of sale for an Oakland apartment building, his passport and steamship tickets.

The dejected Radin had enough cash in a money belt to fly back to Oakland.

"We had no idea that had happened to him," said Michael Funk, manager of the Hotel Ashby. "He had told us he was going back to Yugoslavia to die."

Radin, unmarried, has no relatives except in Belgrade, capital of Yugoslavia.

Funk rented the room to Mr. and Mrs. James Lobodie of Winnetka, Ill., and their sons 11 and 13. The boys found the valise under the bed.

"I didn't know people were that honest," said Radin when reporters reached him in an Oakland hotel. "Now I'll start all over again."

Moreda pleaded not guilty to the charge.

OH BOY! IT'S REAL!

Two San Rafael youngsters, who complained they had "nothing to do," had plenty to shout about today. They found a 1943 copper penny, which mint officials say is impossible. With magnet and magnifying glass, Walker Stephen Vaning, 13, and sister Eden Stephanie, 11, try to prove the mint officials wrong. Coin collectors throughout California are buzzing about the impossible coins. Mint officials insist only zinc pennies were made that year. "We don't know if it's worth anything," said Mrs. Walker Vaning of 1309 Fifth avenue. "But just to be on the safe side, we'll put it in the safe deposit box." (Independent-Journal photo)

McCarthy To Seek Delay Until 1961 On Shoreline Highway Rerouting

Marin's state senator will request a delay in any final selection of a new route for the Shoreline Highway until at least the start of 1961.

Sen. John F. McCarthy yesterday told a delegation of 16 Marin and Bay Area people he would write the California Highway Commission asking that no action be taken on final selection for rerouting of Highway 1 from the Golden Gate Bridge to Olema, until after the start of the legislative session next January.

The delay would be to allow opponents of freeway construction in West Marin time to come up with an alternative plan.

The meeting, held in the senator's San Rafael office, was requested by attorney Caspar W. Weinberger of San Francisco for his client, George W. Wheelwright of Green Gulch Ranch. Sixteen persons, representing Marin Conservation League, Save Stinson Beach Committee, Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club, and themselves as individuals, attended the meeting.

Wheelwright presented the to the senator. He said that a road built to freeway specifications would mar the hillsides and divide the communities in West Marin.

He displayed enlarged photographs showing hillside damage by new highways in Monterey and Mendocino Counties and a photo on which had been drawn the artist's conception of how the proposed highway would cut Muir Beach off from the upper part of the valley with a huge earth fill.

"We need a compromise between the highway engineers' desires and those of rabid conservationists who want only one car a day to travel the highway," said Wheelwright.

Mrs. Doris Leonard of Berkeley told of the six south bay counties working on "a national parkway plan" for the highway along the ocean, and of a proposed "international scenic drive" which would edge the shoreline all the way from Alaska to Mexico. She urged delay in Highway 1 improvements until they could be fitted into such a plan.

McCarthy said he foresaw a large recreational and entertainment development in West Marin including large convention facilities and similar accommodations. "Such development will need a highway," he said.

He urged the group to "get the people together and see what kind of a road we can adopt."

"I'm going to do everything to expedite a proper, planned, landscaped road without billboards and all the other junk that sometimes goes with freeways," he said. Then he urged the group to "come up with your own suggestion." Perhaps, he said, they had better hire an engineer to make a study of what should be done.

The group agreed to make definite recommendations before mid-December on the assurance of McCarthy that no final decision would be made before that time.

But Kent Seymour Jr. of Mill Valley sounded a final warning. "Don't underestimate the opposition of those people who don't want any change at all," he said.

Miller, Dupuis Debate Over Debate Dates

There is still no agreement between the two candidates for Congress from the First Congressional District as to if, when or where they will meet in debate.

Yesterday, Fred G. Dupuis of Tiburon, the Republican candidate, rejected the proposal of Rep. Clement W. Miller, Democrat, that they hold a series of five radio debates in five cities of the district during the week of Oct. 24.

DATES TOO LATE

Dupuis in a letter to the congressman, called Miller's proposal "during what is virtually the final week of the campaign . . . wholly impractical." He pointed out his campaign committee already has him slated for numerous meetings during that time.

Dupuis reiterated his offer to debate Miller on television in Eureka, but on "any single day" convenient to Miller. Previously he had named Sept. 26, 27 or 28 for such a debate. Miller had said he had other commitments those days.

AGREES TO APPEAR

At the same time Dupuis noted that he has accepted an invitation of the Marin United World Federalists for a debate on foreign policy on Oct. 6. "I am holding that date on my calendar as a firm engagement," Dupuis wrote, "but I understand that in site of the organization's very early invitation to both of us, you have not agreed to be present."

"If you can not consent to either or both the Eureka television debate or the Marin United World Federalists debate—and in view of the unfortunate experience in 1958 when you failed to appear at an agreed-upon joint engagement—I would suggest that we each get on with the business of presenting our views to the voters in all seven counties through our own campaign efforts," Dupuis concluded.

Deputies Find 'Party Pad' In Beach Shack

Sheriff's deputies uncovered an alleged teen-agers' "party pad" in a run-down beach house on the Tiburon shore last night.

The old wooden shack perched near the water about 100 yards from 4071A Paradise Drive has been vacant for two years. But neighbors reported noises and blinking flashlights inside the beach house in the early hours of the morning.

Two single beds, coffee grounds and bath towels were found inside last night by Deputy Edward Mauberret. He said teen-agers had apparently been using the beach house for the past three days.

Two youths were seen leaving the shack last weekend. The next day a motorcycle was parked in the driveway.

Appearing before U.S. Commissioner Joseph Karesh in San Francisco on the white slave complaint, Mrs. Lindsay was released on $1,000 bail and ordered to appear Sept. 6 for a hearing.

Voter Signup Drive To Cost Extra $3,000

Marin County's attempt to get all eligible residents registered to vote before the Sept. 15 deadline will cost the taxpayers $3,000 more than the normal registration service.

The board of supervisors approved this amount today for special registration deputies which will be stationed in markets, bus depots and other places where people gather.

The special registrars will be $20 per day pay, although regular registrars are paid at a rate of 15 cents per person registered.

"There are people who would do this for nothing, lots of them," said Mrs. Vera Schultz ruefully.

U.S. Exports Keep Keep Level In July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Commerce Department said today United States exports in July totaled 1.72 billion dollars, slightly less than in June but 17 per cent more than in July, 1950.

Comparing only non-military exports, the July total was up 22 per cent from a year ago. This suggested that the sizable increase in U.S. commercial exports posted earlier this year was sustained through July.

Excluding military shipments, the July total was 1.65 billion dollars.

He was accused of disturbing the peace at rallies on July 3 and July 24.

New Race Violence Flares In 2 States

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violence flared early today despite emergency police powers ordered to curb the racial outbreaks that have plagued Jacksonville, Fla., with fire bombings and shootings.

The first death of the current trouble came when policemen returned gunfire at a car carrying two Negroes, which crashed into a utility pole.

RIOT IN GEORGIA

In Buford, Ga., 25 miles northeast of Atlanta, a rock-throwing racial fight last night brought the arrest of two dozen white youths and about an equal number of Negroes.

The outbreaks came as New Orleans looked toward Judge J. Skelly Wright of U.S. District Court for a decision on a plea for delay in his orders to integrate the city's first grades, and as Delaware school authorities were under court order to speed up integration of their schools.

The Negro man killed in Jacksonville was not identified. Police who fired at the car in which he was riding said he had not been shot. A companion, identified as Willie Green, 44, of Jacksonville, said he did not know the dead man. They met in a bar and decided to ride around and "raise hell," Green told police.

An attendant at a service station, fired upon by the Negroes, narrowly escaped death. A bullet hit a pistol in his pocket and punctured a can of oil in the pocket.

STORES FIRE-BOMBED

Fire bombs—kerosene-filled glass bottles—were thrown at a number of stores, causing damage estimated at $4,815. Several failed to explode or burned harmlessly outside the establishments.

The new outbreaks in Jacksonville came despite emergency police powers invoked by Mayor Haydon Burns. He banned street gatherings of more than four persons and unnecessary auto traffic, following fights and vandalism over the weekend.

Burns refused official sanction to a request from the Jacksonville Ministerial Alliance for a bi-racial committee to iron out the troubles. He said such committees in other towns have resulted in integration.

CLASSES OPEN WHERE BOMB ONCE BURST

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Classes opened quietly yesterday at Clinton High School, built to replace the building destroyed by dynamite blasts in October, 1958.

Principal W. D. Human said about 900 pupils, including 10 Negroes, attended first day classes. The school has been integrated since 1956.

That's A Golfer Russ Know About

LONDON (UPI) — A British tourist, just back from Moscow, described his difficulty in telling the Russians about golf. There are no golf courses in the Soviet Union.

The London Star yesterday reported the tourist was reading a London newspaper on a street corner when a group of Russians gathered and began arguing about the pictures on the back page. In broken Russian he tried to tell them the pictures were of an English golf course.

When this failed he mimed a golf shot.

"Aah," a Russian beamed. "Eisenhower."

Students Support Sit-In Movement

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Support for the sit-in movement was voted early today at the National Student Assn. Congress here, but the resolution stressed non-violent participation.

The resolution was adopted 305-37 after three hours of debate, with the strongest opposition being voiced by delegates from the Carolinas and Virginia. A poll of the delegates from this region showed 22 in favor, five against.

'SELECTIVE BUYING'

Specifically, the measure called for "non-violent picketing and selective buying campaigns" coupled with continued efforts to end discrimination on college campuses.

A four-school region representing the southeast, including Florida, Georgia and Alabama, voted 3-1 for the resolution.

The Mason-Dixon Region, including Delaware, favored it 10-0, while the Southwest backed it 19-4.

Also recommended were cooperation "in every way possible" with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, and continued efforts to circulate information on the events and purposes of the protest movement.

RAP NEWS COVERAGE

The students accused newspapers of a "lack of thorough, impartial, objective and interpretive coverage" of sit-ins and other segregation news.

The congress left any future action up to individual students and colleges.

"Realizing the deep moral committment involved in individual participation in the student protest movement and the non-violent actions, the association urges each individual member to consider the implications of participation in or abstention from such action in his own life," the resolution said.

There was, however, wide support for strong action in the fight for "equal rights."

Bill Caldwell of Loyola University in New Orleans said, "There is great moral and ethical justification for such action."

California Lags Behind South In Text Books

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A legislative report asserted today that even states in the Deep South have an edge over California in textbooks furnished to elementary school students.

The report, which takes several hard swipes at California's system of textbook selection, goes this week to the Citizens Advisory Commission on the Public Schools, now preparing recommendations to the 1961 legislature.

Surveyed in the 140-page report were 16 "multiple adoption" states in the West, Middle West and South.

(Under "multiple adoption," the state approves a number of books and the local district can pick the one or ones it prefers from this list. Under California's "single adoption" system, the state chooses one or more texts in a subject, and each district gets only those books from state funds.)

The multi-state survey disclosed that:

1. "World Ways," California's seventh grade history book, is available for the sixth grade in Arkansas, Virginia, Tennessee, Kansas, Nevada, West Virginia and Florida.

2. Other social studies books are used a year earlier in Louisiana, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Delaware, Arkansas and Florida, among other states.

3. Spelling books are not furnished until the third grade in California, while in 14 "multiple-adoption" states (out of 14 giving information on this subject), spellers are available in either grades one or two.

4. English books, finished at the third grade in California, are available for grades one or two in Nevada, Idaho, Alaska, Delaware and Oklahoma.

5. Phonics books, not provided in California, are on the multiple list in Nevada, Delaware and Alaska.

6. In four of the surveyed states, unlike California, foreign language books have been adopted in Texas, Idaho, Alaska and Louisiana.

7. Texts furnished by the State of California in reading, history and geography, and intermediate English, have been selected as among the top five or six books in only "a handful" of the 16 states.

The report notes that only Arizona, Alabama and North Carolina use California's "single adoption" system. Twenty-four states, including virtually all the eastern states, let local districts select their own texts, and 22 states follow the "multiple adoption" system.

Population Growth

NEW YORK (UPI) —Nearly three million U.S. men will become fathers this year and many will be forced to find more living and sleeping space for their families, housing sources say.

However, some will be able to convert unused attic space into additional bedroom areas.

Radioactive Metal Found In Gem Alloys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that small amounts of a radioactive metal, ruthenium 106, have mysteriously found their way into alloys used by jewelry makers.

The commission said, however, that the amounts are so tiny they "present no health problem for individuals wearers."

Ruthenium is an element found in nature associated with platinum ores. The radioactive form of ruthenium is man-made.

The commission is still trying to find out how ruthenium contaminated with radioactive metal got into commercial distribution. Whether it came from reactors is not known. One suggested possibility is that the contamination came from bomb test fallout containing ruthenium 106.

In a program designed to improve and expand facilities to residents of Northern Marin, McPhail's this week engaged the services of Vito's Nursery to enlarge and landscape their patio yard at Ignacio, one-fourth mile North of the Black Point cut-off on Highway 101.

M. S. "Swede" Dahlquist of McPhail's is in the foreground discussing expansion plans with Graham McPhail, president of McPhail's Company. Vito R. Bertoldo, landscape contractor and owner of Vito's Nursery, helps swing a 20-foot palm tree into position for planting while "Bud" Bobo operates the crane.

Dahlquist announced this development will improve McPhail's North Marin facilities for sales of garden supplies, exposed aggregate and colored rock and help broaden their program to assist home owners of Marin in patio and landscape design.

BIRTH CONTROL FOR PETS?

City Council Outlaws The Two-Dog Family

DETROIT (UPI)—Dogs are going to find it tough to raise a family in suburban Lincoln Park.

Puppy dogs may be taken away from their mothers and adult dogs may have to divorce their mates.

The Lincoln Park City Council, after a year-long hassle over the problem, voted 6-1 last night to adopt an ordinance banning more than one dog per home.

More than one dog can be kept only if a special $5 fee is paid and only if neighbors do not object.

The council chambers were filled to overflowing with protesting dog lovers. But they lost out and had to go home to break the bad news to their pets.

The ordinance was adopted, according to Councilman Joseph Knowles, because of a continuous problem with noise and "offensive odors" created by dogs.

Lincoln Park has 2,976 pet owners with one dog, 153 with two dogs, 19 with three dogs, three with four dogs, two with five dogs and one with six dogs, the council was told.

The dogs did get one break in the ordinance. When a dog produces a litter of pups, the owner has a four-month grace period to get rid of them or pay the extra $5 fee and get the neighbors to accept them.

U.S. 'SHARK WITH NOOSE'

Castro: Anti-Red Stand 'Treason'

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro branded as "treason" today the anti-Communist declaration issued by 19 American republics at San Jose, Costa Rica. (See also story on page 2.)

"Why should we renounce Soviet support — to remain alone and weak?" the revolutionary leader demanded in a wrathful post-midnight address to an assembly of school teachers.

He called for a massive public rally in Havana Friday — "the biggest public demonstration yet"—for Cubans to show their contempt of the San Jose warning against Sino-Soviet intervention in the Western Hemisphere.

'ONLY TRUE DEMOCRACY'

'Since our nation is the only true democracy of America . . . we'll assemble and discuss with the people the (Declaration of San Jose) and the people will give an answer," he said.

Castro described as "puppets" and "sardines" the Latin republics represented at the two-week foreign ministers meeting in Costa Rica. He said the "United States was a "shark" that had gone to the conference "with a pocketbook in one hand and a hangman's noose in the other."

Working himself into a towering rage that surprised even veteran correspondents, the premier charged that the Pentagon had placed its paratroops and marines on combat alert during the meeting.

"Why this impatience of the Pentagon to send paratroops to Cuba?" he asked. "Do they think we are cripples? Do they think their paratroopers can flutter down here like butterflies without anyone bothering them?"

BOMBS PUNCTUATE

Four blocks from the theater where the premier delivered his three-hour harangue, two bombs went off. Police said they were harmless noise bombs and caused no destruction.

Cuba, which walked out of the San Jose conference Sunday night, and the Dominican Republic, which bolted the meeting the week before after having sanctions declared against it, were the only American republics not to sign the Declaration of San Jose.

The seven-point document did not mention Cuba by name but clearly was aimed at the Castro regime's tacit defense alliance with Russia and its growing ties with the Communist bloc.

Marin City Commences Drive For Registration

The Marin City Tenants' Council last night opened an all-out drive to register voters and named a committee to deliver voters to the registration booth on Sept. 3 and 10.

Heading the committee will be Hardy Westmore. The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, as well as other organizations and churches, will be asked to assist in the drive, said council chairman Daniel Hayden.

In addition to delivering voters to the registration booth, the committee will issue leaflets explaining the mechanics of registration, Hayden said. The council also voted to request the county clerk to move the registration booth from the Greyhound Bus station to he shopping center. Deadline for voters registration is Sept. 15.

S.F. Robbery Victim Dies From Beating

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Homicide investigators today began checking acquaintances of Meyer Rosenberg who knew the wealthy San Francisco contractor was in the habit of carrying large sums of money in his coat pocket.

Rosenberg, 60, died last night of a skull fracture suffered 17 hours earlier when two men savagely beat him with axe handles and then fled with $7,000 taken from his coat.

Rosenberg told police the men, whom he did not know, were waiting in his construction company office when he returned from a weekend trip to Reno early yesterday.

He said they ordered him to take off his jacket and sit down, apparently aware that he carried money in his coat. When they began searching the coat, Rosenberg said, he tried to run out the back door but slipped and fell.

The men jumped on him and slugged him with the axe handles. A neighbor heard his moans later and called police.

Labor Attorney Battles For Job

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Irving Shore, fired last May after 21 years as an attorney for the State Department of Industrial Relations, today battled to retain his job.

Shore claims his dismissal was a "political frame-up." He told State Personnel Board hearing officer Leo Toussaint yesterday that he had been asked to file "improper cases" and had refused.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leonard M. Sperry said Shore was dismissed because he was arrogant and patronizing toward department employees, refused to file suits referred to him for action, and gave incorrect legal advice, causing the agency embarrassment.

Shore, 49, a three-time Republican candidate for the State Assembly, had been one or six lawyers with the labor law enforcement division.

Oral Polio Vaccine Developer Says Salk Shots Obsolete

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the live-virus polio vaccine, said today that once his vaccine is in production there will be no more need for the Salk polio vaccine.

He said his vaccine, which is taken orally, has proved more effective than the killed-virus type and is a replacement for it and not just an "aid."

"We have established this fact in our Cincinnati tests," he said.

"Forty-three per cent of children here who received three doses of the Salk vaccine showed no immunity response to Type I polio, the most important type," Sabin said. "All of these children show excellent immunity response to Type I after one dose of oral vaccine."

Sabin's live-virus vaccine, which tastes like cherry candy, was recently approved by the U.S. Public Health Service and will go into production soon.

Sabin said that although it will not be necessary to have both vaccines, it won't hurt.

This city recently gave school children 240,000 doses of the Types I, II and III vaccines under a free program which saved parents an estimated $124,800.

The Wyeth Co., one of the pharmaceutical firms which will manufacture the Sabin vaccine, said that at first the live-virus vaccine will cost about as much as the Salk vaccine, although Cincinnati officials said it cost just about 52 cents a dose for the tests.

The Salk vaccine cost patients between $3 and $5 a shot from private physicians.

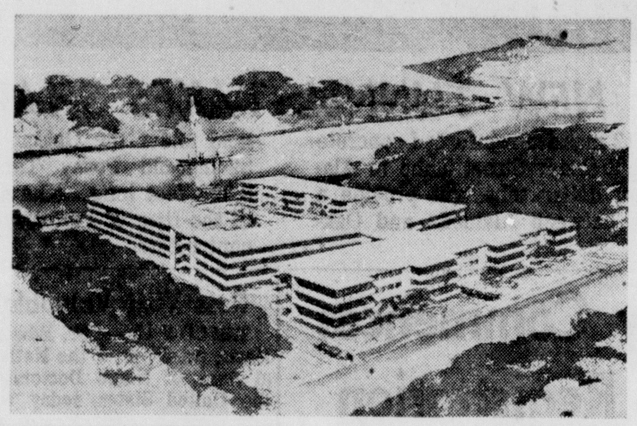

Wyeth said the primary reason for the higher-than-predicted cost of the Sabin vaccine lies in production difficulties.

Devoto Heads Larkspur Tax Hike Campaign

Donald J. Devoto of Corte Madera last night was selected as chairman of a citizens committee to work for passage of a 40-cent Larkspur School District tax increase proposal.

School district voters will ballot on Oct. 11 on a proposed basic tax rate increase from $1.35 to $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

A major part of the increase would be used for operating expenses of a fourth district school planned to open next fall in the Mariner's Cove-Marin Estates area. The latest tax rate increase in the Larkspur School District went into effect in 1952.

School board members told the 27 persons who attended last night's meeting that the district's enrollment of 1,600 pupils is expected to increase 240 by next June.

3R School Offers Classes For Children Four Years Old

Children, too young to enter the kindergarten or primary grades in public schools, but whose parents feel they are ready for school, may this week and next be enrolled at 3R School in San Rafael, announced Joseph N. Heath, principal.

"We recognize the fact that some children are capable of starting school earlier, and are being frustrated by being held back. We will accept them as soon as they are ready for school, from four years up," said Heath.

At the 3R School, kindergarten children are given a course consisting of reading, writing and arithmetic. First graders are given reading, phonetics, arithmetic, handwriting, spelling and science, said the principal.

Fall session at 3R school will commence Sept. 12.

Statement of Policy

Regarding Political Advertising

The Independent-Journal does not aggressively solicit or render copy writing service for political advertisements that are argumentative in content. Political advertisements are construed to be all assertions subject to public controversy, whether or not a public election is involved.

Any political advertisement that is not clearly the personal appeal of the elective candidate or candidates involved must show the name of the sponsoring group together with the name or names of one or more persons officiating for such group.

Political advertisements must be submitted in complete and explicit form, ready for the printers, and clearly marked as to size and date of appearance. All political advertisements are payable in advance. Charges are figured at the regular rate.

Advertising deadlines are 4 p.m., two days preceding publication. As example: Tuesday advertisements must be in Friday at 4 p.m.; Monday advertisements must be in the preceding Friday morning. Any intervening holiday advances the deadline by a day.

No responsibility to show printer's proof is assumed under the above schedule.

If a proof is desired, advertisement must be submitted substantially in advance. Corrections, if any, must be ordered by 4 p.m., two working days preceding publication. Any changes from original copy will be charged for on basis of printing work involved.

On the last publication day before an election no political advertisement other than a simple statement of advocacy will be printed. As example: "Vote yes on proposition three," or "Elect John Jones," together with facts as to nature and time of election and, if desired, candidate's party affiliation or occupational identity.

Nearing a public election, no advertisement introducing a new controversial subject will be accepted to run later than the fourth publication day preceding the election. If any new statement or issue should be introduced on the fourth publication day preceding the election, attacking the opposing candidate or issue involved, the newspaper may, at its discretion, make allowance under this rule for the opposing side to answer.

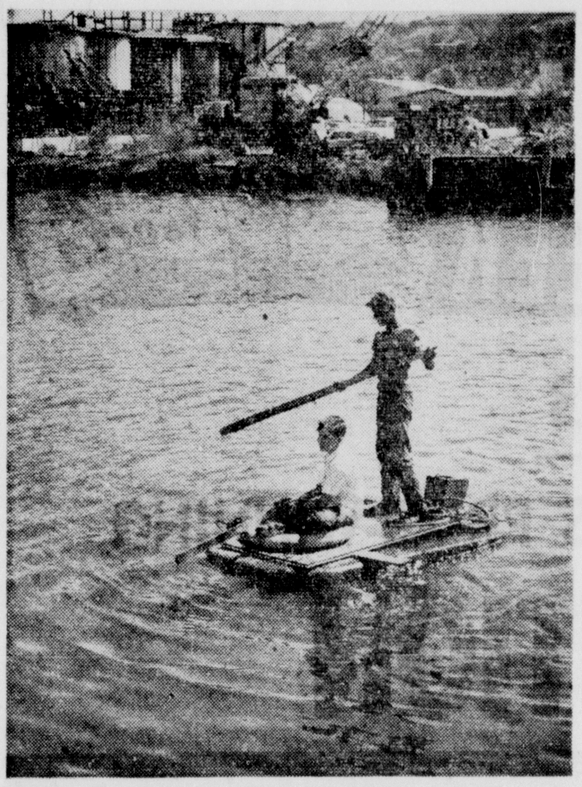

Necessity for the newspaper's disinterested handling of political advertisements is readily apparent. These terms and conditions are adhered to in spirit of fairness to all.

TEACHING METHODS SIMILAR

Marinite Visits Classes In Europe

A white-haired teacher with twinkling blue eyes returned to San Rafael from Europe during the weekend and labeled Marin County "the Scandinavia of the West."

"The summer climates are identical, the people are friendly and the land is clean," declared 59-year-old Cyril Sherwood of 1009 B Street, San Rafael.

He arrived just in time for the opening of classes at the Marindale School for physically handicapped children in Terra Linda, where he has taught for four years.

He spent two months touring 14 European counties by railroad. He lost 20 pounds but added blisters to both feet from sightseeing hikes.

A Hemingway-type beard which had accumulated during his vacation was shaved off last week.

Sherwood toured schools for the deaf in southern England, Sweden and Denmark. He spent a week at a conference of teachers of the deaf in Copenhagen.

"There methods of teaching are just like ours," he reported.

Sherwood taught at a Honolulu school for the deaf in 1943-36. By chance he met a group of teachers from the Hawaiian school touring Venice and Vienna.

In Stockholm he visited the relatives of one of his pupils at Marindale School, Amy Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. Roberts of 152 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley.

It was Sherwood's second trip to Europe. He was an exchange teacher to Falkirk, Scotland, near Edinburgh, in 1950.

Recreation Stint Ends In Fairfax

The Fairfax recreation program closed for the summer today. The program was geared to the children of kindergarten age through high school.

Thomas Kelly directed indoor activities and sports, and Miss Jeanne Hancock conducted the field trips, movies and the arts and crafts program. A total of 195 children enrolled in the program, which operated five days a week.

Among the summer activities were a trip to the zoo at San Francisco, a picnic to Shell Beach, and weekly movies.

Larkspur Council To Set Tax Rate

The Larkspur City Council will meet in special session at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening to set a tax rate for the 1960-61 fiscal year. Estimates based on an adopted budget of $296,295 are that the tax rate will be the same as last year, $1.63 per $100 assessed valuation.

Setting of a tax rate is the only item on the agenda of the special meeting to be held at the Larkspur City Hall. Next regular meeting of the council will be Sept 7.

'Suede Shoe' Salesmen Take $500 Million Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A State Senate fact-finding committee was told yesterday that Americans are cheated out of 500 million dollars annually by fast-talking home improvement salesmen.

Vernon A. Libby, general manager of San Francisco's Better Business Bureau, told the committee that skilled "suede-shoes men" can go through a town in a few weeks, leaving behind stacks of unpaid bills and inferior workmanship.

Lamar Childers of the Alameda County Building Trades Council said the salesmen skip rapidly from city to city.

The usual method used, Childers said, is to make shoddy workmanship at high prices sound good to the homeowner, who usually negotiates a bank loan to finance the job.

He was told, for example, that his home was selected for a "model," that he will receive $100 for each customer who contracts for a similar job, that he can deduct the cost from his income tax, and that he won't even have to pay a tax on his profits.

After the salesman and workmen leave, and the job begins falling apart at the seams, Childers said, there is little the homeowner can do. The contractor fulfilled his obligation, the bank bought the paper in good faith, and the salesman has disappeared. The homeowner has no choice but to pay.

Frequently, when the homeowner reads his contract's fine print, he discovers he had agreed to take the job "as is," with no guarantee that it will last. Or he discovers the paper he signed "just to show we did the work" was a document releasing the contractor from all further obligation—and knocking his guarantee right out the window.

The fact-finding committee is considering legislation to license home improvement salesmen.

Brown Assails Foes Of Water Bonds

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown came out fighting today for the 1.75 billion dollar water bond issue on the November ballot.

Brown labeled opponents of the bond issue "irreconcilables, doubters, obstructionists, quibblers and sectionalists."

"This is not the Brown water program; this is not a Democratic party water program; this is not a south water program or a north water program," he said. "This is the California water plan and we are going to continue to fight for this project right down to election day."

He said labor opposed the bond issue because it did not contain an acreage limit for beneficiaries of the project.

"But I assert putting an acreage limit on a bond issue on water is like putting a mandatory curriculum in a school bond issue," Brown said.

The administration months ago set forth the policy that land owners with holdings in excess of 160 acres would have to pay a higher rate for water. This policy, Brown said, he would like to have confirmed by the legislature. He indicated he would submit the question to the 1961 session.

Asked how he felt about suggestions that construction of Oroville Dam on the Feather be postponed for an indefinite time, Brown said:

"The dam has to be built . . . I feel it must be built and as quickly as possible."

Walkway Planned For Embarcadero

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown said today the state would convert a half-mile stretch of the upper deck of San Francisco's Embarcadero for parking and sightseeing.

He said plans include an eight-foot strip along the bayshore side of the raised freeway for parallel parking of about 60 cars. A sightseeing walkway would extend for a half mile from the head of the Broadway on-ramp to the start of the bay bridge.

Reed Bus Schedule Will Be Posted

The schedule of buses for transportation of Reed School District pupils will be posted at several places on the Tiburon Peninsula tomorrow, according to Supt. Paul R. Stouffer.

The schedules will be placed at the Belvedere, Reed Tiburon and Bel Aire schools; the Board Walk shopping center bulletin board; Hilarita Housing project; Belvedere-Tiburon library; Bel Aire Shopping Center bulletin board; the Belvedere Community Hall; and the residence of Harry Windblad in Hawthorn Terrace.

Student Says U.S. Sleuths Hug His Trail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 24-year-old Englishman said today immigration sleuths have followed him for eight days.

He is Christopher Bacon, Cambridge University graduate who came to America a year ago on a fellowship to study at the University of California's Berkeley campus.

Bacon said that eight days ago, while he was on a tour of the United States as required by the fellowship, Department of Immigration investigators began shadowing him.

"Since then I've been under a 24-hour watch," Bacon said. "There have been at least two, and one time—in Montgomery, Ala.—there were six."

C. W. Fullilove, acting district director of the Immigration Service, said he could not confirm nor deny that Bacon was shadowed.

Fullilove, said the Immigration Service refused to extend Bacon's visitor's permit beyond Aug. 31 because of his arrest May 13 during demonstrations in the San Francisco City Hall.

1,400 Gather At 4-H Club Leadership Conference

DAVIS (UPI)—More than 1,400 young delegates from throughout California began working sessions today at the annual state 4-H Clubs leadership conference.

A tour of the University of California campus, agricultural demonstrations and panel discussions of recommendations by the recent White House conference on children and youth were on today's schedule.

Last night, delegates were welcomed by Everett Carter, vice chancellor of the university campus here, and George B. Alcorn, university agricultural extension director. Two 4-H Club members Robert Paulson of Tracy and Nancy Giorgio of Buellton, conducted a panel on "Values To Live By."

James C. Hermansen, Bank of America executive, presented a check for $4,600 to pay the conference fee of 400 delegates.

Tonight, Roger Fox of Merced will tell the conference of his experiences as an exchange student in Pakistan.

Air Force Men Set Mark For Space Stay

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two Air Force pilots, in the midst of a simulated trip to the moon, yesterday broke the record for time spent in a make-believe space ship.

Capt. William D. Habluetzel, 36, and Lt. John W. Hargreaves eclipsed the old record of 13 days, 20 hours and 40 minutes set last February by T/Sgts. Hobard M. Craft and William W. Henderson.

Assistant Chief Named For Juvenile Hall

A new position of assistant superintendent of juvenile hall was created by the Marin County Board of Supervisors today and Nicholas Minitzky, a senior group supervisor, was promoted to the new post.

The action followed a series of discussions about the position, qualifications for which were not approved by the board until today.

Minitzky was appointed to the post provisionally until the personnel commission can conduct a civil service examination for the job. To get the post permanently, he must pass the examination.

Minitzky has agreed to return to college and complete his bachelor of arts degree, one of the requirements for the new post. He needs 14 more units for graduation.

Minitzky, who has been on the probation officer's staff at the hall since 1957, will get a salary increase from $458 to $481 per month in the new job, plus the $25 raise granted all county employees.

In other personnel matters today, the board:

Appointed Nicholas J. Sweeney, accountant, auditor-controller's office, at $505 per month effective Sept. 19, to replace Lucien Miller, who is resigning on Oct. 31; Martha Jean Warner, deputy clerk, municipal court, $341, replacing Ruth Schwab, resigned; Kenneth M. Ray, fire warden, $358.

Promoted Leo A. Vaughn from treasurer's accountant to assistant tax collector-treasurer, at increased salary from $613 to $644 per month; Evelyn N. Hogan, from intermediate stenographer clerk to senior stenographer clerk, medical department, from $310 to $341; Florine Miller, social worker at $556 to social worker supervisor, $584, temporarily from Sept. 12 to June 18, 1961, to give leave of absence to supervisor Janet West, who is going back to college.

2 Held In Truckee Gas Station Holdup

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — Highway patrolmen captured two men today for questioning in the robbery of a service station west of Truckee of $110.

Officers Evert Silva and Pete Zadra intercepted the two just west of here on U.S. highway 40.

James B. Brezna tried to escape but was shot in both legs and taken to the Washoe Medical Center. Joel Thompson was booked at the Washoe County sheriff's office.

Sheriff's deputies said the pair were driving a stolen car with Missouri plates and were AWOL from the Air Force.

JENSEN CALLS THE TURN

Marin County Exhibit Ready To Revolve At State Fair

Marin County's unprecedented revolving-stage exhibit is ready to turn tomorrow when the California State Fair opens at Sacramento, County Administrator D. A. Jensen reported today.

Jensen yesterday took to the fair 11 plants loaned as decorations by Don Perry, San Anselmo nurseryman. Throughout the weekend Albert A. Raymond, Sausalito commercial artist, had been doing volunteer work to get the exhibit ready.

Raymond will return tomorrow to do final posters for the show, which originated in work of a committee dissatisified with Marin County displays of the past.

A theater-like presentation occupying one-third of a revolving stage will be changed frequently during each day of the fair, which opens tomorrow at 10 a.m. and continues until 10 p.m. each day through Sept. 11.

While one section of the Marin display is being viewed by the visiting public in a space between imposing draped pillars, the other two sections, concealed behind, can be in process of stage-setting.

One of the three parts will be permanent and made up of a varied choice of Marin's commercial and agricultural interests.

About a dozen groups within the county have pledged to "man" the other two stages with live exhibits showing recreation, artistic and other activities typical of Marin.

There has been one hitch, Jensen confessed. A boat to be used by the Belvedere Sailing Society in a display featuring knot-tying and other nautical activities turned out to be too large to go on the stage. Exhibits by the Pottery and Ceramics Society, Marin Society of Artists and Boy Scouts are to take the place of the nautical display.

Others to appear for one-hour shows at appropriate intervals will include the Marin Society of Weavers, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Flower Arranging Clubs, 4-H Clubs, a Boy Scout Combo, the Olema Owls Dixieland Band and the Marin Musical Artists.

Whenever a "live" show is not scheduled, the permanent exhibit will be left on view.

The permanent display will be on view from 10 to 11 a.m. tomorrow. From 11 a.m. to noon, the Pottery and Ceramics Society exhibit is scheduled to be on view. From noon to 1 p.m., the Marin Society of Artists will have a depiction of how artists work. Boy Scouts have the hour from 1 to 2 p.m., followed by the Marin Society of Artists from 2 to 3 p.m. The permanent display will probably be shown from 3 to 4 p.m., and from 4 to 5 p.m. the Pottery and Ceramics Society will give a demonstration.

Each day the schedule will change.

First appearance of the Boy Scout Combo will be 11 a.m. to noon and 2 to 3 p.m. Saturday, with the first appearance of the Olema Owls from 1 to 2 p.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. On the same day the Marin Musical Artists will appear from 4 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Jensen said that 50 of California's 58 counties will be represented at this year's fair. Like Marin County, most of these are making special effort to present something memorable in 1960, he declared.

Across from the Marin exhibit will be a spectacular 30-foot waterfall staged by Alameda County.

A rotating globe made of prunes will be the main feature of the Sonoma County display.

WINNIE'S GUESS WAS LOW

Ike Tells How He Won 67 Cents From Churchill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower says he once won a 67-cent wartime bet from British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill.

Eisenhower recounted the incident during a White House welcome for several thousand members of the American and British bar associations.

The Churchill bet came up after Eisenhower shook hands with John K. Platt of Southport, England. Platt said he was a member of the First British Division during World War II.

Platt's outfit took part in the invasion of Pantelleria, an island near Sicily, during 1943. Eisenhower was Allied commander-in-chief in North Africa.

The president said he bet with "Winston" there were 10,000 Italians on the island. "Winston" estimated there were not more than 3,000.

The Allied forces captured 11,000 Italians and Eisenhower won the bet—Italian currency worth 67 cents.

'Republican Record' Spins 'Irreverent' Political Views

NEW YORK (UPI)—An anonymous Chicago group which made money with a phonograph record attacking the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy jumped on the Republicans today in an election-year record.

Herman Gimbel, president of the New York firm of L. P. Sales Corp., is handling distribution of the admittedly political platter. It is called "The Republican Record?" It attacks President Eisenhower, GOP presidential nominee Richard Nixon, their party and its record.

It is subtitled "A slightly irreverent, mostly musical view of Dicky, Dad and all the gang."

The record label does not identify the artists or the sponsors.

Their work consists of parodies on old tunes including "My Country Tis of Thee" ("Goodbye to Mr. Clean," a sarcastic thinly veiled reference to Eisenhower); "Bring Back My Bonnie To Me," ("Bring Back My Checkers to Me," about Nixon's pet dog which figured in the 1952 campaign, and various folk songs.

Open Season On Sea Lions Draws Attack

FORT BRAGG (AP) — The friends of the sea lions are roaring again.

An attorney for the Committee to Save the Sea Lions warned a State Senate committee here yesterday against a bill that would make sea lions open game the year around.

Kamini K. Gupta, San Francisco lawyer, said: "Before you authorize near-destruction of any species of nature's creatures, be sure that you are not upsetting nature's balance."

"Sea lions are a natural resource of all the people," he told the Natural Resources Interim Committee.

Senate Bill 444 holds that sea lions deplete fish for commercial and sport fishermen and that they ought to be declared in open season for hunters.

The committee, headed by Sen. J. Howard Williams (R-Porterville), also heard reports by sportsmen and commercial fishermen.

'GRAND HOTEL' LIVES ON

Novelist Vicki Baum Dies Of Sudden Illness

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Vienna-born novelist Vicki Baum, 64, who wrote the best-seller "Grand Hotel," died yesterday after a brief illness.

The writer was stricken Sunday at her Hollywood Hills home and taken to Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital where she died.

Writer of more than 25 novels, in addition to plays and scenarios for motion pictures, Miss Baum came to filmland in 1931 from Vienna with her husband, Dr. Richard Lert, now conductor of the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra.

Her arrival coincided with the publication of her most famous book, "Grand Hotel." It was made into a hit movie and a musical play called "At The Grand" starring Paul Muni.

In spite of the fame and money Miss Baum received from "Grand Hotel," she said two years ago that "frankly I'm tired of it."

"I found myself identified always as the girl who wrote 'Grand Hotel,'" she complained.

The film version of the novel won an Academy award in 1932 as the best picture of the year.

Miss Baum considered herself an old-fashioned story teller whose function was to entertain.

Her other works include "The Weeping Wood," "Hotel Berlin," "Headless Angel" and "Theme for Ballet," published in 1958.

Her survivors, besides her husband, include two sons, Peter and Wolfgang.

German Girl Wins 2nd Diving Title

American Star Again Edged Out For First

ROME (UPI) — Blonde Ingrid Kramer, the apple-cheeked doll from Dresden, scored a rare diving double in the Olympics today when she nosed out Paula Jean Pope of Santa Ana to add the high diving championship to her springboard laurels.

The 17-year-old German girl repulsed the statuesque U.S. beauty with a magnificent final dive which netted her 18.48 points for a victorious 91.28 total before 10,000 bonneted and shirtless spectators this sultry, sun kissed day.

Mrs. Pope, the 25-year-old favorite, finished second with a final dive good for 16.56 points and an 88.94 total, which left her second once again by a heart-breaking 2.34 points.

Mrs. Juno Irwin, a 31-year-old veteran from Glendale, finished fourth with a final dive good for 16.33 points and an 83.59 total while Canada's Irene MacDonald, a 27-year-old secretary, wound up ninth with a total of 80.49 points.

Mrs. Pope, a five-foot, four-inch beauty, was a mere 1.60 points behind her blonde German rival as they went into today's two final dives at the noise-filled Olympic swimming stadium. A cool breeze at long last helped spike the stifling heat which had been bothering the athletes throughout the week. On her first dive, a running one-and-one-half somersault, double twist, pike, she earned 17.68 points, while Miss Kramer gained only 16.50 with a forward two-and-one-half somersault, pike.

Thus, with only one dive remaining, the American with the sculptured features was only .42 points away from victory with a total of 72.38 points against 72.80 for the blonde German school girl.

But in the final dive Mrs. Pope was not up to it.

Miss Kramer, diving first, did an inward dive, two and one half somersault, with pike and pulled it off so daringly that she earned 18.48 points for her triumphant total. Mrs. Pope did an inward two and one half somersault with tuck but all she could get was 16.56 points for her second place 88.94 total and her second silver medal.

The latest U.S. failure followed on the heels of another victory for Russia when Viktor Kapitonov won the gold medal in the 175-kilometer (about 110 miles) cycling race.

It was the fourth gold medal won by Russia so far in the Olympics, against only one for the United States.

Kapitonov just managed to beat out Livio of Italy by inches.

The United States gained its first gold medal yesterday when Gary Tobian won the men's springboard diving, and had high hopes today that Carolyn Schuler of Orinda, and Bill Mulliken of Champaign, Ill., would gain two more.

Mrs. Pope was so upset at her defeat that she broke into tears and, refusing to say anything at all, walked off disconsolately by herself.

"She just broke under the pressure of that last dive," shrugged swimming coach Dr. Sammy Lee of Santa Ana, a former Olympic high diving champion himself. "If we'd known the German girl was that good, we would have worked our tail off."

This was taken by some as an admission that the U.S. divers had been complacent.

With the fastest eight teams qualifying for Friday night's finals, the United States sent four teen-agers out in the women's 400 meter medley relay. They finished second to Great Britain's 4:49.0 by three-tenths of a second. Germany was third another yard away.

Claim Made Russ Using Red Chinese

ROME (UPI) — Nationalist China's Olympic delegation charged today that the Soviet Union has smuggled a red Chinese into its Olympic team in direct contravention of the rules of the games.

The Soviet chief of mission promptly shot back that his Chinese counterpart was "a liar."

The Chinese charge came from Peng Chuan-Kai, chief of mission of the Nationalist team.

"We know the Russians have a man on their team who is really a Chinese," he said. "We have seen him. This man is certainly not a Mongolian or from the Russian interior."

Peng said the Chinese delegation first got suspicious when they saw the mystery man marching in the opening day parade.

Sausalito Junior Net Meet Ends With Rousing Battles

Tom Mathews, Marilyn Rayburn, Chris Dewees and Betsy Nowlan captured winners' laurels Saturday in rousing final round play in the Sausalito City Junior Tennis Championships.

Mathews, a lanky, 16-year-old power-stroker, toppled defending junior champ Jim Christiansen, 15, in a breathtaking two-hour marathon, 4-6, 6-2, 10-8. The match was described by tournament director John Minton as "the finest exhibition of tennis ever put on by Sausalito youngsters." Turning point came in the 14th game of the third set when Mathews staved off two match points. His momentum carried him to an all-important service break with the score knotted at 8-all, from which point he held on for set and match.

Action in the other three matches was almost as evenly fought. Miss Rayburn, at 11 the youngest to ever win the city's Under-18 girls' title, turned the trick over Ann McIndoe, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5. Quickness afoot and less inclination to err were decisive factors in this match. Miss Rayburn was unseeded; Miss McIndoe was ranked second.

On the Boys-15 bracket, unranked Dewees upended second-rated Fritz Grinsell, 7-5, 6-3. Dewees, a husky 13-year-old, was obliged to turn on the power to defeat his tiny, 12-year-old foe, who was forced into many errors in the deciding set.

The championship in the Girls-15 division went to the stocky 13-year-old Miss Nowlan, who had her hands full coping with Holly Hall, 11, before winning, 6-2, 8-6. Here, again, power decided the outcome.

Awards were presented to all finalists in ceremonies following the matches. Trophies for the winners and medallions for the runners-up were donated by the Sausalito Rotary Club.

The tournament marked the end of Sausalito's third full summer of junior tennis activities, which included an eight-week instructional program by Minton, Anne Hicks and Mary Jane Wellington.

Orioles Blank Chisox, Move Up On Yanks

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We'll make a lot of mistakes, as kids are wont to do. But should we manage to stay fairly close during the first half of the season, then watch out for us during the second half."

Baltimore manager Paul Richards' spring statement was recalled following the Orioles' 4-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox last night which boosted them to within 1½ games of the idle first-place New York Yankees.

Richards must have been looking at a crystal ball. His baby Birds made mistakes—lots of 'em—during those first few months of the regular season but spectacular pitching kept them close to the pace.

During the second half of the campaign, Baltimore has been the hottest club in the American League. Paced by such bright stars as Brooks Robinson, Ron Hansen, Jim Gentile, Marv Breeding and Jackie Brandt, and such seasoned campaigners as Gene Woodling and Gus Triandos, the Orioles blended a strong attack with standout pitching.

The result? Since the All-Star break, Baltimore has won 29 while losing 15. During the same period, the Yankees have won 28 and lost 19 and the White Sox have won 27 and lost 19.

Last night's victory was Baltimore's second straight over the third-place White Sox who dropped 3½ games behind first, two behind the Orioles.

Cleveland defeated Washington 6-4 to move within two games of the fourth-place Senators. Boston's Red Sox whipped Kansas City 4-1. The Yankees, after playing three doubleheaders in three days, enjoyed a welcom day off. Detroit also was idle.

Pittsburgh retained its 5½ game bulge in the National League, walloping Los Angeles 10-2. St. Louis burst into second place with a 3-0 triumph over Milwaukee and Philadelphia blanked San Francisco 2-0. Cincinnati and Chicago were idle.

Jack Fisher, one of Richards' five fledgling starters, hurled the shutout for the Orioles. Brandt, Woodling and Robinson, the first three batters, got all eight hits off loser Herb Score and two successors.

Pittsburgh was back on the pennant road today, headed for its first flag in 33 years, and Vern Law, its ace right-hander, was in position to become the first Pirate pitcher to win 25 games since Burleigh Grimes in 1928.

As Pittsburgh broke a four-game losing streak last night, Law posted his 19th triumph.

Law, 30, virtually a cinch to become the majors' first 20-game winner this year, permitted eight hits for his eighth straight victory and fifth over the Dodgers.

BLANKED BY ROOKIE

Lowly Phils Too Tough For Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Strange, this National League race.

The fifth place San Francisco Giants act as spoilers to the leaders, but find last place Philadelphia a tough outfit to handle in these late stages.

On Sunday, the Giants shellacked Milwaukee's Braves with 17 hits for a 15-2 victory but last night rookie right-hander Art Mahaffey of Philadelphia blanked them on two singles 2-0.

After facing the Phillies today, the Giants could become the spoilers again. They play the Pittsburgh Pirates tomorrow and Thursday with lefty Billy O'Dell slated to hurl the opener.

Today it was Robin Roberts (9-12) for the Phils against Sam Jones (14-14) of the Giants. The veteran Philadelphia hurler shut the Giants out on one controversial hit the last time he faced them here.

On the recent road trip, it was Philadelphia that started the Giants' big slide by copping three straight before San Francisco salvaged the finale of a four-game set in the City of Brotherly Love.

Last night, Philadelphia scored once in the second and again in the fifth to hand Mike McCormick his tenth defeat of the campaign against eleven victories. Up to this season, Mike had counted nine of his 26 victories against Philadelphia. He's 2-2 with the Phils this year.

But Mahaffey wasn't to be denied. He pitched perfect ball until one Giant was out in the sixth inning. Then on a 2-2 pitch, shortstop Eddie Bressoud punched a single to right. The next inning Joe Amalfitano singled and those were the only two Giants to reach base. The rookie didn't walk a batter.

In the second, Kent Walters led off with a double down the third base line and scored the first Philly run when Johnny Callison singled. In the fifth, Ruben Amaro doubled to lead off and Tony Taylor singled him home.

McCormick allowed only seven hits and struck out eight in going the route for the losers.

Willie Mays, suffering from a bruised hip, appeared only as a pinch hitter in the last of the ninth and flied out. Manager Tom Sheehan said the ace center fielder would be back in full action today.

Wales Bout Touches Off Wild Brawl

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP) — Tempers still were simmering today following a wild demonstration after European heavyweight champion Dick Richardson stopped Brian London to retain his title last night.

It took 20 policemen to untangle the milling mass of fighters, seconds and spectators wrestling on the ring floor in one of the wildest scenes in British boxing history.

London, former British champion who once fought Floyd Patterson for the world title, retired at the end of the eighth round with a cut eye which his trainer complained was caused by a butt.

While Referee Andrew Smyth argued with London in his corner, the fight started, with spectators, including London's father, leaping into the ring to join the battle.

DODGER KILLERS — Three powerhouses of the league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates posed in Los Angeles after the Pirates clobbered the Dodgers 10-2 last night in a key National League contest. Catcher Hal Smith, left, and third baseman Don Hoak, center, each slugged three-run homers. Pitcher Vernon Law, right, won his eighth game in a row and hit his first homer of the season. The win kept the Pirates five and a half games in the lead in the pennant race. (AP Wirephoto)

McPhail's Win Big One In Softball Loop

McPhail's took over undisputed possession of first place in the San Rafael Recreation "A" Softball League by downing Sohner Tree Service 4-3 last night at Albert Field.

Ron Derrington smashed a two-out solo home run in the top of the sixth to tie the game at 3-3. Rich Curry's sacrifice fly drove in John Brookman in the seventh to provide the winning marker. Brookman was on by an error.

Sohner drew blood first on Jack Phillip's two run homer in the first. McPhail's chipped away by scoring one run in the fourth. Successive singles by Bob Thompson, Frank Ratto and Ed Langen, with two out did the trick. McPhail's tied it up 2-2 in the fifth on Buzz Keaton's hit and scored as Nolan Wilson was safe on an error.

Sohner took the lead in the bottom of the sixth inning on Earl Beyer's single, stolen base and Bob Alvarado's single.

The Sohner club fought back. Trailing 4-3, they put runners on second and third with one out, but a fine defensive play by Ratto closed the door.

Bob Eggleton was the victorious pitcher, giving up six hits, striking out five and walking three. In losing the thriller, Jay Leatherwood struck out five and walked only one, but gave up seven hits.

In last night's other game, the Bushers, up to form, rolled over Cain Tire 9-2. Dick Padget was the winning chucker.

Marin Catholic Picks New Coach

A San Jose State College graduate of 1957 is the new head football and baseball coach at Marin Catholic High School.

Harry Moore began work yesterday with the 1960 Wildcat gridiron squad.

The young coach comes to Marin Catholic from Palma High School at Salinas where for the past three years he has served as varsity football and baseball mentor.

He and his wife, Kallita, and their two children, a son, 3, and a daughter, 1, are now residing in San Rafael.

Moore succeeds Mike Davlin at the Marin Catholic football helm. Davlin had resigned to accept a position in the Tamalpais High School system.

It had been generally expected that Davlin's assistant coach, David DePage, would move up to the top spot at Marin Catholic.

However, DePage this summer accepted a job teaching and coaching at a grade school in the Los Angeles area, and the high school began hunting a new coach.

At San Jose State Moore played football and baseball and majored in physical education. An injury prevented him from making the varsity gridiron team.

At Marin Catholic he will teach English and U. S. History as well as coach football and baseball.

In the Rhodes 33 class, Dean Morrison of the St. Francis Yacht Club led Len James of San Francisco to the wire by 42 seconds.

Don Elliot of Sausalito sailed his Viva to a win over Al Ollinger in the Clipper class. Carl Prussing's Junior Clipper nosed out William Bosschart to win by 11 seconds.

New Fish And Game Decisions Causing Both Grins And Gripes

STEVENS

Howdy, folks! So the grins and the gripes begin. The boys with their fowling pieces in one sector are cheering the decision of the Fish and Game Commission in setting a split season for waterfowl; the lads on other lands bewail that same decision. But, like it or not, we must abide by the result of the meeting of the Commission on Aug. 24.

The commission adopted a split season for California generally with 67 shooting days on ducks, geese, coots and gallinules, except brant.

The season opens Saturday, Oct. 15, and runs through Sunday, Nov. 20. The birds get a 19-day rest and then the second half of the season opens on Saturday, Dec. 10 and runs through Sunday, Jan. 8. Daily bag limit on ducks to six and six in possession. The limit on coots and gallinules, separately or in the aggregate will be 25 daily and 25 in possession. Limit on geese, six and six, with not more than three of the dark species. Exception: In the Colorado River Area and the Lower Klamath Refuge, the seasons and bag limits will agree with Oregon and Arizona, ie: 90 straight shooting days beginning October 11, with limit on ducks, four and possession eight; limits on geese, coots and gallinules, the same as the split season.

NOTE: In District 22 only one Canada goose or subspecies may be in the daily bag. NO Canada geese may be taken in this area after December 18.

THE NIMRODS who look forward to the time when the canvasbacks and redheads hit the upper San Pablo Bay, will be disappointed. No canvasbacks or redhead may be taken at any time any place in California this year.

However, the ruddy ducks which rated a smaller limit last year have been returned to standard limits this year.

The commission set the brant season for Dec. 3 through Jan. 31. Limits are three and three. Shooting hours for Wilson snipe (jacksnipe) will jibe for all other waterfowul this year—one half-hour before runrise to sunset. Season is from Dec. 3 through Jan. 1, with limits of eight and eight.

One good ruling that came out of the meeting was the decision to permit a hunter to transport other hunter's waterfowl if they are tagged to show the time, date and place they were taken, and bear the signatures of the hunters and their hunting license numbers.

IN CUR column earlier we promised a report on a new "safety heater"—a catalytic heater that was touted to be absolutely safe, compact and easy to operate in trailers, tents, station wagons, boats and duckblinds. We had tried out a sample heater in our own home, but proposed to send it out to get a field test on a trailer trip along the coast by a disinterested party. This we did, and here is the report:

R. W. Johnson took the "Therm'x Safety Heater on the trip. When he returned he did some mild raving over how well it worked. Said he was the envy of others in the trailer park. So we feel safe in recommending the Therm'x heater to you. No possibility of monoxide fumes. It is odorless, no danger of starting a fire, there is no smoke, will continue sending out 2,400 B.T.U's for at least 18 hours on one filling, weighs only two pounds and measures six inches by eight inches. (This is the model 21, which we are reporting on.)

So that's the report. It is made in France and is handled locally by the Therm'x Company of California, 112 Market Street, San Francisco.

As it is new on the market, your local sporting goods store may not stock it, but they soon should. We've been waiting a long time for just such a safe and sure heater.

THERE HAS been an invasion of undersized bass in the San Pablo Bay. On a pier in Rodeo, 12 people, mostly youngsters, kept pulling in fish as fast as they could drop the hooks into the water. Ninety per cent of the fish brought up would have been keepers a few years ago, but only two were 16 inches or more.

We wonder when, if ever, our exalted Fish and Game Commission will wake up to the fact that we are threatened with an over-population of striped bass just under the legal limit. When as many as ten bass must be thrown back because of size to every one that measures the required 16 inches, it looks bad for the future of our fishing. After all there is only so much natural bait for the fish to feed upon. The entire back country regions are teeming with small bass. They are so thick two of our fans reported using over 10 pounds of bait to catch four catfish. The small stripers took the bait as fast as it was in the water.

Why, oh why can't we return to the 12 inch limit for size and the five fish limit for quantity. We'd better, before long, or we'll all rue the day we stood for the later restrictions.

And that's it for today. So long

Novato Golf Meet Slated For Weekend

A small but select field is expected to go to the post this approaching Labor Day weekend in the second annual North Bay Golf Tournament at Indian Valley near Novato.

Entries from all over the Bay Area have swelled the Novato Kiwanis Club's annual contest to close to 50 players, plus the winner last year, Bob Callan, who will arrive in Marin from Hawaii this week.

Callan won the event in 1959 with a 72 hole score of 284, after shooting a 67 on the final day of play.

This may be the second year in a row for the $500 in prize money to be split by a small number of contestants in four flights, championship (0-7) and three handicap divisions. Handcappers will compete at match play.

The tourney represents a golfing bargain for the player who will come up with the $10 entry fee. The championship flight will go 72 holes, 18 each on Saturday and Sunday, and 36 on Labor Day.

Built three years ago, Indian Valley has been manicured to its finest condition, according to Pro Jim Perrin. He noted that the greens have improved remarkably during the past few weeks and are now putting "smooth and true."

Perrin said entries may be made by phone (TWinbrook 2-3515) or by letter with $10 check enclosed. The course is located three miles west of Novato on Lake Stafford.

'We're All Americans,' Says U.S. Track Coach

ROME (UPI)—U. S. sport officials charged today that the Russians were trying to "disparage" U. S. superiority in Olympic track and field, ascribing it to the great number of Negroes on the team.

The officials were commenting on a view put forward by Grigorii Kukushkin, director of Russian's central planning board for the training of athletes, and Vassili Kuznetsov, the Soviet Union's decathlon champion.

The two members of the Soviet Union's Olympic delegation said in an interview with this correspondent that "most of the stars on the American track and field team are Negroes." They said Negroes have "special physical endowments for sports" and a "different nervous system."

About 40 per cent of U. S. men's track and field team are Negroes and 13 out of the 18 women on the team.

"This is their way of disparaging our lead over them in men's track and field events," said a U. S. coach. "On our team we make no distinctions between Negroes and whites. We're all Americans here."

The coach, who asked not to be identified because he felt the controversy had "political" aspects, said the Russians seem to make a distinction between the Negroes and the whites on the field of athletic competition.

"Their approach seems to be that we, originally a white race, have had to call on another race to help us fight our battles," he said.

Steve Witkowski, Middletown, Conn., head trainer of the U. S. Olympic team, said the emphasis placed by the Russians on the number of Negroes on the U. S. team shows they have a "different mentality from ours" on the subject.

"I don't know how many of our boys and girls are Negroes," Witkowski said. "It never occurred to me to count."

The Negroes on the U. S. team were amused by the Russian statement.

BOB MATHIAS WARNS

Darkhorse Could Be New Decathlon Champ

By OSCAR FRALEY

ROME (UPI) — Five years ago when two-time Olympic decathlon champion Bob Mathias was on a State Department tour, he gave a clinic for some two dozen wide-eyed young men on the island of Formosa.

They were a silent, earnest lot. And they listened attentively as Mathias gave them tips on the various track and field events which compose the decathlon and then demonstrated his prowess.

Until it came to the high jump.

Mathias leaped over the bar at six feet. So did one of the young men attending the clinic. Mathias cleared it at six feet, one. So did his observer. Rangy Bob hitched up his pants and cleared six, two, the highest he ever jumped in his career.

The young man sailed over it easily—and went right on sailing over it as Mathias watched from the sidelines until he cleared six feet, six inches.

Now it was Mathias who was pop eyed.

"Holy smokes," he told the young man, "you can jump. If you tried some of the other events you'd make a terrific decathlon man."

That was five years ago.

Today, as Mathias walked through the Olympic Village, he said a tremendous mouthful.

"I will bet you 5,000 lire," he said, rallying as if the equivalent of eight bucks United States wasn't a lot of money, "that this guy wins the Olympic decathlon. And you can have the rest of the field."

He wasn't talking about world record holder Rafer Johnson. Nor about former world record holder Vassily Kuznetsov of Russia, who generally is considered to be Johnson's main threat in the grueling 10-event man-killer which runs over two days.

He was picking the fellow who beat him high jumping that day in Formosa—fellow named Chuan Kwang Yang.

Such a bet, naturally, was snapped up like a leaf of lettuce in a rabbit warren.

"But don't spend it yet," Mathias warned. "If Johnson has one bad event and if Kuznetsov isn't in the greatest shape of his life, Yang will win this thing sure."

Yang, who is known affectionately to his friends as "C.K.," took Mathias' advice and turned up in the United States where he went to school at UCLA. He has heavily muscled legs and a sort of sunken chested appearance but, Mathias warns, the 27-year-old Taiwan athlete has been working with weights to improve the strength in his upper body and with the proper breaks can go all the way.

"He's a bit weak in the shot and discus," admitted Mathias, who won the Olympic decathlon championship as a 17-year-old in the London games of 1948 and repeated four years later at Helsinki. "But if he's ready for the 1,500-meters and high jumps up to his normal of six feet, six inches or better, he'll be tough to beat."

Johnson's world record, approved yesterday, is 8,683 points. Yang's top mark is 8,426 points—a deficit of 257 points.

"But remember, when he made that mark, Yang had a bad leg and only high jumped five feet, 10 inches," Mathias said of the event in which points are graduated steeply as performances increase. "He well might have broken Johnson's world record if he had been right. And he just might do it right here in the Olympics."

So, as the man cautioned, Old Fearless ain't about to spend that 5,000 lire, yet.

Russian Picks Red Muscle Men To Win

ROME (UPI) — A Russian army general who warned President Roosevelt 16 months before Pearl Harbor that "the Japanese are going to attack you" had another warning for the U.S. today:

"Our weightlifters are going to get you."

The United States has sent its usual powerful weightlifting team to the Olympics and the fight once again will be between the Yanks and the Russians, Col. Gen. Mikhail Mikhailovitch Gromov said.

"But this time we will beat you," the Russian team manager said in an interview with United Press International. "We will get three gold medals, and maybe four."

Federal Payroll Sets New Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government's civilian payroll, already more than a billion dollars a month, rose another 307 million dollars for the year ended June 30.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), noting that pay increases for government workers effective July 1 were not included, predicted another climb in total payrolls during the current fiscal year.

A report of the Senate-House committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, which Byrd heads, said last year's civilian payroll totaled $12,637,000,000, not counting 268 million paid to foreign national employed in overseas installations. The year's total included an estimated 64 million dollars paid during the year to temporary census workers.

The payroll figure for the preceding year was $12,330,000,000. In 1955, it was $9,621,000,000.

The senator said the number of civilian workers on the payrolls averaged 2,386,345 for the year just ended, 34,103 above the fiscal 1959 average.

Terry died yesterday about 15 minutes after Mrs. Giles took him and another child to the hospital.

Peak Traffic Toll On Holiday Feared

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council predicted today a record 460 persons may die in traffic accidents over the Labor Day weekend.

The present record of 453 was set over the 78-hour holiday in 1951.

The council said 73 million vehicles will be on the move sometime during the weekend.

The council suggested these travel tips for motorists:

1. Use seat belts, even on short trips. The council said not a single person killed in Fourth of July accidents was wearing one.

2. Be prepared for any traffic emergency, no matter where you are. They point out that during the Fourth of July holiday, half of all fatal accidents occurred within 10 miles of the driver's home.

3. Try to avoid traveling during peak traffic periods. That would be the first 36 hours of the holiday period and the last 24 hours.

4. Don't drink if you drive.

Gov. Brown Names Two More Aides

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Gov. Brown today named two more asssistants—one a Stanford University law teacher and the other already a state official.

Alan J. Moscov, 31, assistant professor of law at Stanford, will become Brown's aide in the program and research field, especially in education.

The other new aid is Frank Chambers, who will continue in his present post as chief deputy director of public works.

Chambers will take primary responsibility for recommendations on gubernatorial appointments, freeing Legislative Secretary Alexander Pope to prepare the 1961 legislative program.

Jewelry Is Spicy 'Plus' To Ensemble

Though jewelry is far removed from the political scene . . . there is a resemblance this fall. Jewelry offers two outstanding candidates for milady's choice!

The two beautiful looks that are "campaigning" for your vote are the bold, yet graceful pieces, and the delicate and precious.

In necklaces the bold seems to be winning . . . overgrown bibs and collars are numerous . . . bulky strands, particularly in matinee length, are very important . . . the gypsy effect is widespread.

In bracelets the chunky look very often combines with the precious influence . . . or, many delicate bracelets are worn together. Whatever the choice, bracelets, and lots of them, belong with the new bared arm styles.

Rings are coming into their own once more . . . in lavish, large dinner-type rings, to be worn with even the most casual styles.

Earrings follow the lead of necklaces . . . from gypsy hoops to tailored gilt pieces. Semi-precious stones will be seen more, along with the ever-popular silver, gold and pearl earrings.

Pins are practically indispensable for fall's new fashions. Giant sprays or gilt filigrees, they're designed for placement low on a tunic, nestled in a cowl neckline, or as a clip with a gypsy scarf.

Throughout the jewelry picture, rich fudge browns in both stones and beads, reflecting the fur influences, will be most popular! They are sparked by topaz, amber and champagne hues.

Greens appear in worlds of tones from darkest moss to stringent lime. Purple plums, to point up the big color throughout fashions this season, are enhanced by combinations of olive, jet, taupe, lime and topaz crystals, stones and beads.

Rhinestones have made their way from night lights to day light. Clear stones in un-reflected cuts will flash on suits and coats.

Does Plastic Bounce?

A six-inch thick pad of plastic foam takes the place of the conventional innerspring in a new mattress. The manufacturer reports that the new design combines firm support and relaxing softness. The twin size weighs 21.5 pounds for the average twin innerspring mattress.

Electronic Robots Invade Classroom

United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — The robots aren't coming to the nation's classrooms. They are here!

First, it's educational television — off and running. And now, butting into the school marm's business are new fangled things called teaching machines. Plunk one on a student's desk and he cn teach himself — going along at his own rate of speed.

The machine even gives tests on the current lesson before allowing the pupil to dial a new lesson. To worsen matters for a teacher jittery about technological advances in the academic world, the teaching machines have a hidden virtue.

They don't require the students to do homework!

All the wrinkles haven't been flattened by the experts engineering the teaching machines, but the "homework free" devices are being used experimentally in dozens of classrooms. The most extensive use of the machines is in Roanoke, Va., classrooms. There, a major project recently was launched by Encyclopaedia Britannica Films and Hollins College.

Maurice Mitchell, president of E.B.F., said in an interview that the teaching machines are more accurately called self-instruction devices.

"During the school year that ended in June," Mitchell said, "a class of 34 eighth grade pupils in a Roanoke school were given beginning high school algebra, a course ordinarily offered in the ninth grade.

"The teaching was done by machines. The class finished the year-long course in half the usual time, with the students showing an excellent grasp of the material covered as indicated by national examination material. No lectures, classroom demonstrations, textbooks or home work were used."

Mitchell said that in addition to taking the standard nationwide achievement test in algebra, the students took a test the Roanoke teachers themselves devised. They passed the second test with excellent results also.

Similar experiments are underway in the language subject areas, and the plan is to run the entire program of mathematics, language and other programmed subjects year cycles of testing and polishing during the coming year.

"Speedier progress through the years of mathematics and language study on the part of the student and a dramatic extension of the capabilities of the classroom teacher are expected to be the first and most significant result of the widespread introduction of teaching machines," Mitchell said.

"Since the burden of the teaching is done by the machines and the student himself, the teacher is free to deal with inidividual students, and an enlargement of class size in these subjects seems entirely possible.

"Classes of 100-150 students, supervised by a competent teacher while they move through the process of self-instruction, are believed to be entirely feasible. "This may represent a major breakthrough in the field of teacher shortages and swelling instructional costs."

Mitchell said it is believed possible to deliver an entire academic year of subject-matter to the student's desk, in the form of a teaching machine, at a cost of about $10 per student.

Two Stanford Graduates Wed; Roger Austin Is A Bridegroom

Roger Jonas Austin claimed Helen Loree Dahling as his bride at a recent ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church in Marysville. The Rev. John Smart, Air Force chaplain at Camp Beale, officiated at the double ring ceremony in the presence of 200 guests. A reception followed in the church's social hall. For the event the church was decorated with white stock and white gladioli. White satin ribbons and cerise carnations marked the pews.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Austin of San Rafael. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Dahling of Yuba City.

When given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length princess silhouette gown of candlelight dulcet satin. The bridal gown was trimmed with Venise lace appliques on a scoop neckline and had three-quarter length sleeves. The bride's white net veil was held in place by a Swedish crown of sequins and pearls. She carried a half-moon bouquet of white roses edged with stephanotis and baby pink roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. James Gardner of Yuba City was matron of honor, and Misses Carolyn Hall and Kathy Rall were bridesmaids. They wore cerise taffeta dresses and carried bouquets of white carnations trimmed with camellia leaves and cerise ribbon.

Len Klay of South Gate, Cal., was best man and ushers were Duane Austin, the bridegroom's brother; Randall Dahling, the bride's brother; and James Gardner.

Four-year-old Diane Bump, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Bump of Sacramento, who served as flower girl, carried a basket of rose petals. Gary Mull, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mull of San Francisco, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a teal blue taffeta and lace dress with gray accessories and a white rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a champagne beige taffeta dress with brown accessories and a lavender cymbidium corsage.

Donald Burtis sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer." Traditional organ music was played by Edmund Manwell.

At the newlywed's reception was a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom in a net heart. Encircling the cake were cerise carnations and maiden hair fern.

In charge of the punch bowl were Donna Dahling, cousin of the bride, and Margaret Huston and Mrs. Edward Davis. The guest book was attended by Miss Sharon Davis.

Among the relatives were the bridegroom's grandfather, W. S. Austin of Dumont, Iowa; the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dahling of Pasadena and Mrs. Mathilde L. McLaughlin of Yuba City.

The bridegroom was recently graduated from Stanford University, where he received a BS degree in physical metallurgy. The new Mrs. Austin also was graduated from Stanford University with an AB degree in education.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will reside in Urbana, Ill., where the bridegroom will study metallurgy at the University of Illinois under a U.S. Air Force training program.

Nuptial Vows Said At Seminary Chapel

When Lila Jean Hadley and Randolph McMurtry were married recently at Stewart Memorial Chapel at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo, most of their attendants were former classmates at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Bridesmaids were Millie Mundt, Judy Wood, Mollie Murphy, Hannah Olson, Lura Simonds and Leona Holt, also the bridegroom's sister, Bonnie McMurtry. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward Schaffroth of San Diego.

The Rev. Jay Bonner officiated at the early afternoon ceremony. Two large standards filled with white and yellow gladioli were on the altar.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Hadley of Nicasio wore a gown of white Chantilly, the full skirt sweeping into a train. The round neckline was scalloped and the sleeves were long. A wide sash of slipper satin was tied into a large bow with streamers at the back. A headpiece of white satin and pearls held the bride's elbow length veil and white bouvardia and carnations were in her bouquet.

The matron of honor was gowned in cafe aut lait taffeta, designed with a fitted bodice and full skirt. A matching veil was on her hair and she carried a bouquet fo yellow daisies.

Similarly styled were the mocha brown taffeta gowns of of the bridesmaids who carried white daisies and had white veilings and flowers on their hair.

A reception at the American Legion log cabin in San Anselmo followed the wedding. Silver candlesticks were at the ends of the bride's table and lilies of the valley topped the wedding cake.

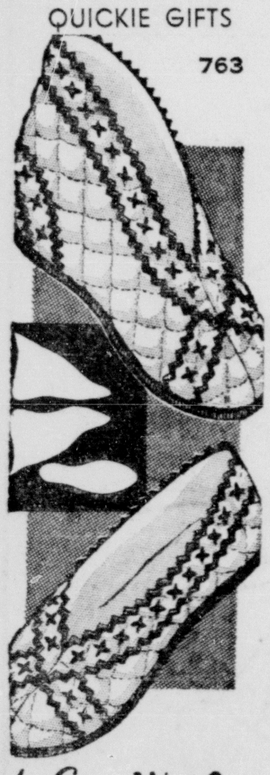

After a moneymoon in Carmel, the newlyweds will live in San Francisco. Both bride and bridgegroom will attend San Francisco State College.

The young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McMurtry of San Anselmo, is the grandson of Mrs. Herbert Brown and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell of San Francisco and the late Col. Mitchell.

The bride's grandfather, C. F. Hadley, resides in Kentfield.

Bathroom Brawls Can Be Stopped

CHICAGO (UPI)—Try the following routine for getting the youngsters off to school together, when there's only one bathroom in the house.

In a three-child household, the oldest child can take over the bathroom first, while the second child makes his bed and the third dresses.

Even the youngest child can learn to make his own bed with these tips:

Use contour bottom sheets. They'll stay fairly unwrinkled even if the youngster doesn't smooth them adequately.

Make a habit of treating the top sheet, blankets and other covering as a single unit, lining them up with hems parallel and pulling them taunt before tucking the overhand under the mattress.

Help Grandma Enjoy Baby; She Shouldn't End Up Casualty

By VIVIAN BROWN

Grandma is usually delighted to take over the grandchildren and give the young people a honeymoon weekend. However, she probably has forgotten how much work it is, if she hasn't done it since her own children were little. The event should be made easier for Grandma so she can keep her good health in the process and perhaps offer to take on the task again.

A mother who anticipates using Grandma as baby sitter will give her everything she will need, including menus and a schedule for naps.

Junior's equipment is likely to fall into three major categories: mealtime needs, a "beauty kit," and clothing.

Here's a packing list and schedule for a typical baby at the creeping-toddling stage:

In the mealtime bag, pack enough food for all his meals. Grandma will probably provide some fresh food, such as milk and eggs, but save her a shopping trip and cookery work by including several small packages of baby cereal, jars of strained or junior fruit, vegetables and meat, some of the new protein dinners in beef, lamb or chicken flavor, and several cans of juice. Include baby's spoons, his baby food warmer, bottles, nipples and cup. If he is still on formula, make up a two-day supply and carry it in a thermos bag. Since Grandma may have to make up a new batch before the visit is over, it is wise to include specific instructions plus all the equipment: sterilizer, bottle brush, measuring cup, etc. The mealtime bag should also contain his bibs.

Put all his grooming aids in the "beauty kit." These will include talcum powder, cotton balls and cleaning tissues, baby oil, baby lotion or other preparations his vitamins, comb and brush, towel, washcloth, soap. Any special medicine, salve for possible rashes or other ailments also should be included.

Baby's clothing needs will depend on the weather and his activities, but sturdy everyday clothes will be less trouble for Grandma than Sunday-best garments. Be sure to pack enough clothes since Grandma will be too busy to do a lot of laundry. Take plenty of diapers, but include a box of disposable diapers for alternate use.

Be sure to include a letter giving his schedule and special information on medicines, vitamins and other special equipment new to Grandma.

Even though products and methods of baby care are changing, babies themselves do not change. Grandma will have a wonderful time reliving the days before her own children grew up and will find baby care easier today than it was a generation earlier.

KEEPING THE BABY — Don't dump junior on Grandma unless you have brought along the bottle warmer and some toys to make the weekend a pleasure, not a chore.

Opera Guild Names Hostesses For Decorative Arts Festival

The San Francisco Opera Guild named 10 hostesses for the Decorative Arts Festival, to be held at W & J Sloane on the evening of Sept. 8, at 5:30 to 9:00 p.m.

Hostesses are the Misses Gail Aguirre, France de Sugny, Louise Escher, Sally Grover, Marjorie Kahn, Crissie McCormick, Heidi McGurrin, Melinda Menzies, Susan Otto and Jeanne Poett. The girls will greet Bay Area residents interested in expanding the Opera Guild program, and in viewing 15 brilliantly decorated model rooms featuring the finest of antique and contmporary furnishings. In charge of the hostess committee is Mrs Robert Harris.

The public is invited to attend the Festival. All revenue will go to the San Francisco Opera Guild, to insure a fourth student matinee during the 1961 opera season.

Mrs. Andrew Simpson, chairman of the event, is urging all friends of the Opera Guild to come to this first Decorative Arts Festival, which promises to be one of the highlights of the early fall season.

On view will be a new collection of fine period and contemporary furniture never before seen in the West and arranged in 15 exciting model room settings, including an entire San Francisco house.

In addition, the Opera Guild benefit will feature a new exhibition of contemporary paintings by Bernard Lourjou and Dong Kingman, from the collection of the famous Wildenstein Galleries of New York, a striking collection of Far East and Indian art objects, and a new collection of specially loomed rugs from France, Morocco, Peru, Japan, Mexico, Spain, Scandinavia and other lands.

Modelling opera fashions will be the following Opera Guild members: Mesdames Edwin Callan, Carl Livingston Jr., John McWhorter, Herbert Richards, Virginia Sells, William Solari Jr., Thomas Sullivan, Walter Vestal (Karen Shaler), Edwin Wilson and Anthony Woodson. Mrs. Niels Larsen is chairman of the Festival models committee.

Mrs. Richard Ham, chairman of the Opera Guild, reports that the Decorative Arts Festival is one of the most important events in the Guild's history. "For years we have been steadily building our Guild series of low-cost student opera performances, and new we have reached the point where 10,000 students from throughout the Bay Area each year can see three performances of the world's great operas with exactly the same staging and casts as regular season subscribers.

"Now this year, if our new Decorative Arts Festival is a success we will be able to offer a fourth opera performance in the series. For the Opera Guild, and for the growing group of student music lovers in the area, this will be a marvelous innovation. We believe that for that reason the Decorative Arts Festival merits the support of all Bay Area residents."

Bad Marks An Alarm

NEW YORK (UPI)—A child's failure in school frequently is traced to defects in vision or hearing.

Leather Is Ladies Choice

In urban street scenes and country landscapes, American women are fashionably feminine this fall in figure-fitted leather coats. The new leather garments have an ultra-soft drape that gives them a flattering cling, or a graceful flow, says Leather Industries of America.

A favorite this fall, is the three-quarter length coat in either smooth or sueded leather. Tailored and belted models are more in evidence than in past years; detailing — on collars, belts and pockets — is kept simple.

Always-smart suede, in all lengths, is having its biggest season in several years. Softly supple and featherlight suede cardigans for teens and college girls, with a school crest or other colorful emblem on the pocket, will be seen in tan, sand, beige, gray, tawny brown and other autumn colors.

Smartly tailored suede vest for wear over blouses, and sleeveless suede pullovers have a sleek chic that no sweater can match. Wrap coats, chiefly seen in fine cabrettas and kidskin are now available in velvety suedes as well as satin smooth leathers. Larger collars and broader self leather belts frame a neat figure.

Tailored leather jackets and blazers have teamed with soft cashmeres and rough tweeds in casual ensembles. Both smooth and suede leathers for all-weather use are frequently lined in alpacas, fur or manmade furs.

Brown, this year's leading fashion color is available in a wide range of tones. Black and white, either alone or combined, enhance every wardrobe.

Flat-As-A-Board Figure Is In From The New Paris Silhouette

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Here's the new Paris silhouette. Now where's that diet list?

You've got to look tubular to be a la mode, as shown by the season's first fashion photos from France, released for publication today.

Curves are out, and the flat-as-a-board figure is in. Worse, you can't count on stiff foundations to conceal anything. They have put the puffball skirt in mothballs. The new cut is usually bias, and the materials are almost always drapy, so even when the outline is loose, it takes a skinny figure to wear it.

Daytime colors are so dark as to be almost funereal. You can take your pick of black, brown, prune purple or steel gray.

The girls with good legs still have the advantage, for hemlines cover the knees with just an inch or two to spare.

Probably on purpose, the designers have made it tough for the do-it-yourself brigades. With the new bias drapes, everything depends on the cut and the hang of the thing. Copying will be a tricky business.

But if you've always longed to look like a flapper, or a clinging vine, here's your chance, sanctioned by high fashion. Most of the designers dipped liberally into the lore of the late 1920s and early 1930s for a new silhouette to usher in the 1960s.

The general trends include wraparound envelope dresses, mid-hip suit jackets, back-buttonings, high ring collars, fur trimmings, lightly flared or bag-bottomed skirts, and high-crowned cloches or helmets, worn with a shingle bob and dark eye makeup.

To nobody's surprise, Dior was different. Many of designer Yves Saint-Laurent's creations showed half the kneecaps. His little lemon of a skirt, starting at a mid-hip and ending at mid-knee, was tacked on to a long torso tube or middy top which forgot all about bustlines and waistlines. In the evening version the top was a loosely flaring, often transparent trapeze, worn mid-hip length over a sheath skirt.

Much praise for the success of the Paris fall fashion season went to three designers whose names begin with C—Jules Crahay of Nina Ricci, Pierre Cardin, and Castillo of Lanvin-Castillo.

Crahay's "boyard" collection, inspired by the garb of the old Russian nobility, was full of flare and drama. His knee-length capes designed to be thrown up over one shoulder, were paraded with cloak-and-dagger swagger. Crahay's evening hemlines, up to the knees in front, touched the floor in an asymetric point behind.

Castillo's teardrop skirts were a handsome version of the new bag-bottom. Their slight fullness was caught into a narrow, sloping bias band just below the knees.

Perhaps the most Thirtyish show of all was Cardin's, featuring wraparounds, scalloped hems and a semi-fitted tube silhouette. Guy La Roche pleased the buyers, too, with a charming Charleston-era collection.

BACK TO THE TWENTIES—Latest cocktail dress from Christian Dior in Paris harks back to the Roaring Twenties. It is in green silk calais lace. It has a straight waist and flounced skirt. Ensemble is completed by heavy row of beads, elbow length gloves and small hat perched on forehead. (AP Wirephoto)

Winners Are Named In Sewing Contest

The "Teen-age Young Stylemakers Contest," a nationwide contest sponsored by the Singer Sewing Machine Co. staged a fashion show Friday night at the San Rafael Improvement Club.

Fortyseven girls, ranging in age from 10 to 18 years, modeled their own creations made during a sewing course taught and directed by Mrs. "Bobbie" Ramatici, of Singer Sewing Center in San Rafael. The course consisted of eight, 2½ hour lessons.

Prior to Friday night's showing, the girls had been graded on the basis of fashion rightness, fit and construction by Mrs. Evelyn Ball, home economics teacher.

The final judges were: Mrs. Edwin Cechettine, Philip Opler and Nancy Roach from the Independent-Journal. The final judging was on the basis of general appearance from a fashion point of view, pattern and fabric selection, coordination of trim and bindings, fit and construction.

The winners were: In the "Tween category, Trinnette Sandine, age 13, wearing a pink check cotton dress with high jewelry neckline and short sleeves. It buttoned in the back with self covered buttons and had a full gathered skirt. It tied at the waist with pink satin. Winner in the "Teenage" class was Aurelie Shanley, 16 years old, wearing a soft blue wool dress with jewelry neck line, sleeves to the elbows, soft pleated skirt and a self belt. Third winner in the "Miss" class was Pebble Page. She wore an evening dress with white lace top, long sleeves, deep "V" back and a full cerise skirt and wide matching belt.

The girls received prizes and their dresses will go to an agency in San Francisco and the winners from there go to New York. The grand winner will receive up to $1,000 plus a scholarship.

The show was narrated by Mrs. B. G. Liggat, wife of the store manager.

College Theater Workshop Group Entertained At Parties

In celebration of an exciting and successful summer session at the San Francisco State College theater workshop, members were entertained recently at an all day through evening series of parties given in the homes of a Marin hostess and hosts.

Starting with an informal luncheon at the home of Twinka Thiebaud in Little Reed Heights, Tiburon, the afternoon continued with swimming and sailing at the Belvedere Lagoon home of Lorin Vogel.

The party then progressed to Bob Talmage's home in Belvedere for refreshments, and later all journeyed to the Mill Valley residence of Kirk Laurie for dinner.

Returning where they started at Twinka Thiebaud's, the group had a surprise dessert in the form of a huge cake decorated with comedy and tragedy masks and inscribed "Happy first reunion from Bob, Lorin, Kirk and Twinka."

Present from Marin in addition to the hostess and hosts were Sydney Peterzon and Inga Newbeck of Sausalito and David Hoag of Mill Valley.

Other guests were Donna Winston of Menlo Park, Victor Clark and Don Morton of Berkeley, Ted Pejovich of Oakland, Jacquie Ames of San Carlos, Nadia Zeibak of Haifa, Palestine, and Tina Rosa, Elizabeth F. Linski, Florence Nathan, Nancy McGettigan, David A. Watts, George Ellison, Nora Peterson, Lola Townsley, Bobbie Freeman, Lurette Arms, Barbara Zipser, Michael Dixon Prichard, Allan S. Murphey, Debbie Dow and Kathie Olsen, all of San Francisco.

Born An Addict

NEW YORK (UPI) — In New York's Bellevue hospital, a tiny, two-day old baby squirms violently in his crib. He has trouble breathing, seems hungry—but often ignores a bottle. He screams, cries and is nauseated, restless and irritable.

His problem? His mother was a drug addict—and he's suffering the tortures of withdrawal. The problem of narcotic addiction among newborn infants is not new but it's become more and more of a problem in recent years, Drs. Annabelle Vincow and Alvin Hackel report in the current issue of GP, the journal of the American Academy of General Practice. During a recent nine month period, the doctors have treated 12 drug-addicted infants at Bellevue.

News In Knee Tickler Skirts

By PATRICIA COOK

BOSTON (UPI)—The new look on the Radcliffe campus this fall is going to be startlingly different. The colors will be brighter the skirts shorter, and the sweaters bulkier. The fashion trend is toward more and more accessories: armloads of bracelets, big necklaces and earrings.

The skirts this fall are great fashion news. The new length is one or two inches below the knee. The knee-tickler length in the skirt, a little above the knee, will be extremely popular, too, especially for casual wear.

A good rule to follow in wearing the knee-tickler skirts, culotte skirts, and knickers is to wear them for the same type of occasion that you would wear bermuda shorts.

The sweaters this year are bigger and bulkier. Most popular among these are the ski sweaters, bulky knits with the big turtle necks, boat-necked sweaters, and sweaters with draw strings at the waist.

Blouses, too, have taken on a new look. Buttondown collars are still very popular and there is a great emphasis on feminine collars on shirts.

Marin's Exhibit Will Add Life To California State Fair

Tomorrow in Sacramento, California's annual Big Show opens for a 12-day stand.

Our State Fair, one of the largest in the nation, usually is a showcase for most of the counties of the state, with the exception of Marin County. For the last two years Marin has been represented by nominal exhibits.

This year, however, the arts, the crafts, the industries and the organizations of the county have united to make the Marin exhibit unique in the fair's Counties Building.

Marin will have a "live" show. On a revolving stage, the county's artists, musicians, youths and adults will give the fair goers real samples of our county. When they are not actually performing, a static exhibit of our industry and agriculture swing into place.

This has come about through cooperation and planning. It has been hard work interesting and coordinating a dozen or so organizations which will send several hundred Marinites to Sacramento to put in a day's work or so at the fair.

County government, particularly the administrator's office, should get the credit for this organizational work. But the credit for the success our exhibit will enjoy, must go to the people who will donate their time and talents to make it effective.

These people have our heartfelt thanks and appreciation.

So this year it is even more than usually our pleasure to urge you to attend the State Fair. Every year it is worthwhile to make the Sacramento journey. Each year the fair has something new and much that is old and familiar.

There is something for all of the family there. Hardly a person interested in either people or things can fail to find many exhibits, displays or activities that will interest him or her.

California's State Fair is outstanding. This year, thanks to hundreds of Marin residents, it will have an even more personal interest to the people of our county.

You shouldn't miss it.

Midnight Revellers

It is midnight and sleep has just overtaken us when laughter and shouting erupt in the neighborhood to the accompaniment of a prolonged blaring of an automobile horn.

Next comes the hi-fi or radio going full blast, accentuated by whoops from the men and giggling squeals from the women.

As the party grows livelier, the trash can resounds to the tinkle of breaking bottles. At long last (just before dawn it seems) the party breaks up amid more horn tooting, shouting and racing of motors.

Most neighborhoods have their quota of noisy midnight revelers. Though we envy them their obvious good time, we wish they would restrain the racket a bit.

Yes, we do envy them, but at the same time we wouldn't change places with them. In the morning we may be almost as sleepy, but we won't have their hangover.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

THING MAKES A DIFFERENCE

In 1901, at the age of 42, Theodore Roosevelt became the youngest President of the United States.

During his first few months in office, he devoted so much time to studying geometry that a friend asked why he did so. Roosevelt explained:

"My study of these problems and propositions of geometry will further train and exercise my powers of thinking and reasoning that I must employ in dealing with the momentous problems of this nation."

In meeting the responsibilities of your home, community, country and world, develop the ability to think and reason logically.

Your intellect is a precious gift entrusted to you by God. Few people appreciate what great capacities of mind, heart and soul they possess.

How to discover and put to good use your inner power? That's for you to find out. You may not relish studying geometry, but you certainly can nurture the ability to think straight and thus better live up to your own personal responsibilities.

"You shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." (John 8:32)

Thanks, O loving Creator, for the gift of intellect and will. Help me to use them constructively.

Are You An Addict Of TV Shows? Here's How One Man Was Cured

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you an addict of television Western programs?

Do you feel they are blighting your life because you spend more time watching them than you do working at your job or entertaining your wife and children?

Do not despair. Hope may be at hand. The ailment may cure itself spontaneously. It did me.

Today there are millions of Americans addicted to liquor, narcotics or gambling. But for every one of these there are probably five who are compulsive viewers of TV horse operas.

The disease is insidious in its onset. At first the victim is supremely self-confident.

"I can take this stuff or leave it alone," he says, twirling the knobs of his TV set.

That's the way I felt, too. At the start I watched one. I discovered one Western program wasn't enough.

One simply left me feeling empty and unsatisfied.

One led to another, and soon I was thinking up excuses to leave the office early so I could get home early and watch on the kid Westerns.

"Daddy, do we have to look at any more cowboys?" pleaded my 7-year-old daughter, Tracy.

"Shut up, kid," I grated, "and watch the posse."

"You don't eat dinner any more," complained my wife. "You just gulp your food in between hangings and stagecoach holdups."

When the doctor heard of my vice, eh said: 'We're getting a lot of cases like yours lately. You're simply suffering Western hallucinations — a form of TV DTs."

He suggested that I taper off.

I COULDN'T taper off. The disease got worse. Then suddenly one night, while I was watching my fifth Western program of the evening, I began to sweat. I trembled violently.

The hero was just about to gun down the villain, but I instinctively switched off the set. In a few moments I calmed down and felt better.

WHAT HAD happened? I still don't know. But the disease had apparently run its course. It is still too early to be sure the remedy is permanent, but I feel it is.

"So this is the famous Hollywood and Vine . . . I didn't expect so many foreigners . . . !"

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Shocking Expose Of Judge Naming

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Your issue of Aug. 22 contains a shocking expose of the manner in which judges are being selected for appointment under the present administration in Sacramento. I consider it a fine job of reporting, and an unanswerable argument in favor of a change in the method of appointing judges.

I refer to the article on the front page concerning the possible successors to Judge Jordan Martinelli on his retirement next month.

It is not a question of the personalities involved. I know nothing against any of them, and have a genuine regard for the two with whom I am acquainted. But it is a matter of great public interest to know what are the qualifications whereby a man is selected for this office which is so vital to our way of life.

A judge is the ultimate guardian of the rights and liberties of every citizen. He has the almost inhuman task of deciding fairly between rich and poor, Christian, Jew and Atheist, Republican, Democrat, and enemy spy. It is essential that the citizens and lawyers who appear before him have confidence in his ability to perform this task.

It is difficult to maintain this confidence when the qualifications for judgeship are such as your article describes. From that article it would appear that one essential qualification is to be a promient Democrat, or failing that, to have a prominent Democrat come out in support of you.

It would also appear helpful to have run unsuccessfully for a legislative post, provided that the Marin Democratic Central Committee felt sorry for you. It would even appear that this purely political organization had more say than anybody about who the next judge should be.

And finally, if you want the even higher post of an Appellate Justice, it would seem wise to be only mildly interested in the duties of a Judge of the Superior Court, but to have considerable interest in fishing and baseball.

If this is not a shocking expose, than I will eat my old fishing hat with all the trout flies attached.

THINK YOU'VE GOT PROBLEMS!

Pity Poor TV Star When His Series Is Dropped

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You think you've got problems, Mac? Just try on the problems of a big TV star for size. Or worse, just try on the problems of a big TV star whose show has been dropped by the network.

There you are—a star in your own series. Making the best money in your life, even after the taxes. You've acquired a fan club, a small expensive foreign sports car and you're just beginning to collect oil paintings. You're beginning to have that heady, happy feeling that the one or two Hollywood folk call "an ego problem."

Then one day, after your show's ratings show a little slippage, you make the first horrible discovery.

IN THE MOVIES stars have names, like Cary Grant, Marilyn Monroe, Clark Gable.

But in television stars have names like Bat Masterson, Eliot Ness, Perry Mason.

That silly old home audience, seeing you every week playing that same role, doesn't pay much attention to your name at all.

To them you're the character who comes into their living room.

That in itself is enough to slow down a galloping ego. But if your series actually folds, the problem gets worse. Added to failure is the employment situation.

So last year the TV audience saw you—and got to know you real well—as Buster Jones, private eye and Casanova. You'd be just great this season as Slim Gringo, lonesome cowboy, but the question is, would the public be able to accept you and believe in you? Sorry — we'll think it over and we'll call you . . .

OF COURSE, you've had star billing now, and star pay, so it's too late to go back to playing TV heavies—a good steady source of income before.

Maybe movies for awhile, B features until the home viewers have wiped your face out of their minds?

Or perhaps a Broadway show—well, even off-Broadway, then? Okay, summer stock.

You've got your troubles any way you angle it. And look what's happening next: 35 new shows coming onto TV, bringing with them a score, maybe more, of those new, fresh faces. They'll all be getting star billing.

So what do you say when some nosy reporter asks you your plans for the coming season.

"Well," you say with elaborate casualness, "I'm mulling over a number of really good offers for series. I'll pick one that will be ready to go into a midseason hole opening up when some of these new shows bomb."

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A beautiful babe sat in a corner of an airport crying her beautiful eyes out. A stalwart traveling salesman could stand it no longer and swept her into his arms. "There, there, my dear girl," he soothed. "You're no longer alone with your sorrow. Tell me what's wrong and Papa will make you stop crying."

"I don't think you can," sobbed the beautiful girl. It's hay fever. But just keep on trying."

A college dance was enlivened by the arrival of a ravishing blonde whose strapless evening gown clung tighter to her torso than a postage stamp — and had about the same dimensions, too.

Above the awed murmurs of the boys in the room came the voice of the chaperone. "Let me introduce you," she said sweetly, "to Professor Binswanger here. He gives a course in constructive engineering — and has a small question he'd like to ask you."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ELLEN FERNANDEZ

The First Ride In A Helicopter Is A Thrill, Better Than Big Jet

You can take your jets, your airliners, the light light planes and the plush light planes.

I'll take a helicopter. Had the first chopper ride last week, flying from Hamilton Air Force Base to the forest fire area around Placerville.

There were the usual instructions about what to do just in case . . . "We'll counter rotate and land," said Capt. Jay Obert, the pilot, with the serious, harried look. "It'll muddle up the airplane a little, but it won't hurt you much."

This helicopter had a spacious cabin, about five by eight feet, with airliner size windows. You climb in and the rumble and jumping of the rotors begins.

THE NOISE IS similar to that in a light plane — but louder, much louder. You can speak only through the intercom or by cupping your hands to someone's ear and screaming at top pitch.

You rise very slowly, the chopper is filled with five persons plus the pilot and a light fuel load. You can barely tell when you lift into the air, and Oberg explained almost apologetically, that we couldn't rise straight up because of the heavy load.

You fly low, 500 to 800 feet, moving toward Mather Air Force Base where you'll take another light load of fuel. The countryside changes from dry rolling hills to geometrical fields of brown.

The flatness turns to forested ridges and the ridges get sharper and sharper. You look ahead and it looks as if smog is covering the valleys and oozing into the sky.

BUT IT'S SMOKE.

Oberg is searching for a spot to land, among isolated houses, in lonely clearings where people stand in front shading their eyes and looking up.

Every few seconds there's a blast of warm air through the now open door. With it comes the smell of burning wood. The door is about four by four feet in the side of the chopper; you can sit with your head dangling out watching the world slowly float by.

Someone looks at a flock of ducks and wonders if you can shoot them from a helicopter.

YOU LAND ON the ridge, inching toward the ground, watching it come a fraction closer each second. You're down with a slight bump on the rocky, brush covered ground.

Watch the pilot's feet coming back. You can see only them and the bottom of the control stick from the cabin behind him. He's flying it every minute. The noise, the strange movements, the low height and open door give a sensation of flying probably not felt since the days of the open cockpit, bamboo struts and wires.

Of course, if someone offered me a ride in an F-101 . . .

WE FOUND someone for our cat, Fishface. According to the reporter in the Novato I-J office, Eleanor Freeman, the man who took him looked as if he thought the cat "was so cute."

Fishface was curled up in a box, sleeping. He stretched, got up and apparently was willing to try another home, foresaking horse meat, chocolate cake, milk, sardines and the floor under my typewriter desk.

But there is the feeling that some day the door will open and Fishface will walk in again, settle comfortably for a nap in the files and wait to be fed.

Nation Facing Dirtier Campaign On Religions Issue Than In 1928

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bit by bit the country is seeing the Roman Catholicism of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate, being made a campaign issue by mail and from pulpits.

This anti-Catholic drive has been spreading rapidly in the South—particularly in Texas and the Carolinas. And one top Democrat told reporters Kennedy's religion may be a greater issue in the Middle West than the farm problem.

Nonpartisan observers also report that the campaign is growing.

Bruce L. Felknor, executive director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee, said last week:

"THE CIRCULATION of rabidly anti-Catholic material already is many times greater than we have ever seen it. We think at this point there is a substantial danger the campaign in 1960 will be dirtier on the religious issue than it was in 1928."

In that year Roman Catholic Alfred E. Smith was defeated for the presidency by Herbert Hoover after a campaign in which the religious issue was a big one.

Kennedy's advisers are acutely aware of what is happening and are concerned.

His press secretary Pierre Salinger told reporters the Democratic organization will create a special section—with branches in every state — to deal with the religious problem.

It will reply to questions as they arise on certain types of anti-Catholic literature being distributed. Salinger said it will supply facts on Kennedy's position on church and state.

RECENTLY TWO Southern churchmen said in interviews with the Nashville Tennessean that preachers and ministers in their denomination will use their pulpits to oppose Kennedy for president.

One, Dr. Ramsey Pollard, president of the nine-million-member Southern Baptist Convention, said:

"Since the Roman Catholic Church is not only a church but a political entity, we feel we are justified in making an attack upon Mr. Kennedy on that basis."

The other, B. C. Goodpasture, editor of the Church of Christ publication, said the Church of Christ is against Kennedy because "he owes his allegiance to the Pope."

On Aug. 20 at Greenville, S. C., the South Carolina conference of the Southern Methodist Church went on record as opposing election of a Roman Catholic to the presidency. It unanimously adopted a resolution saying the Catholic Church has "no line of separation of church and state."

When Kennedy last spring battled Sen. Hubert Humphrey in the West Virginia presidential primary, it was thought anti-Catholicism might ruin him. The Catholic population of that state is less than 5 per cent.

But when Kennedy won overwhelmingly, many observers felt that if he went on to get the Democratic presidential nomination, as he did, his religion might not be much of an issue in the campaign.

This is beginning to look like one of the grand illusions of 1960.

FFLKNOR'S FAIR Campaign Practices Committees, which is nonpartisan and privately supported, seeks to prevent unfair campaign tactics. Backed by both major parties, it screens questionable material received throughout the country.

Felknor said:

"It is becoming much more virulent and overt. What's so disturbing is that so much of this garbage is showing up so much earlier than it habitually does in an election."

He emphasizes there has been no indication that any of the material in question came from responsible Republican quarters.

Our Schools Must Not Neglect Children Who Are Handicapped

Should we expel Donny?

He has cerebral palsy. He'll never walk. He can't speak well.

Should we put him out of school? Tell his parents to educate him without help?

How about Mary? She is blind and learns slowly. She'll never come up to grade standards. Should she be dropped from her classes? Clearly she is "unfit."

How about the other handicapped boys and girls? Do they have a place in public schools? Or should they be excluded? What do you thnk?

I've been listening to some national leaders lecturing about education this summer. Several of them said we should concentrate on the faster boys and girls and let the devil take the hindmost.

"We've been spending altogether too much money on the unfit," one gentleman said. "Only those who can meet high-grade standards should be allowed to stay in school. The rest are pathetic, but they really don't matter."

Sounds almost like Hitler, doesn't it?

Another man said, "Our schools are flooded with mediocrity and inferiority. If we crack the whip, most of the pupils will improve. But from 15 per cent to 20 per cent will always be unfit. We can't afford the luxury of educating them. We must be more discriminating. They should be excluded." Whew!

I believe we should do everything possible to educate handicapped children. They need special schools, special classes, special tutors. We should provide them.

We should help handicapped children become as nearly self-supporting as possible.

I say the last thing on earth we should do is exclude them. Do you agree?

READERS' FORUM

(Q)—"Is it true that cerebral palsied children may be very bright, although they appear to be seriously retarded?"

—A.N.

(A) Yes. The same is true of children suffering other afflictions. No one should ever label a child "retarded" on the basis of appearance only. Individual tests, expertly given, are essential.

San Rafael Gets $12,000 In Beer Tavern Revenue

San Rafael has received $12,373 in revenue paid to the State Board of Equalization by beer tavern and package store owners for the six month period ending Feb. 29, 1960.

Marin County received $51,596 in revenue for the same period.

The annual license fees paid by the beer retailers are returned to local treasuries to be used by local governments, reported the California Brewers Assn.

Local governments received $5,992,835 from the state in beer revenue during the six month period, the association reported.

A package store beer and wine license costs the owner $31 annually while a general tavern license costs $6,000. A license to operate a beer and wine tavern costs $163 yearly.

Park Dedication Set For Festival

SONOMA—The 14th annual Valley of the Moon Vintage Festival on Sept. 23, 24 and 25 will have a double added attraction in the dedication of a new state park and a new state landmark.

The Jack London Historical State Park, which has been in preparation for about a year, will be officially dedicated as California Historical Landmark No. 743 on Sept. 24.

Earlier on the same day the Sebastiani vineyard, planted by the mission fathers in 1824 and located within the town limits of Sonoma, will be dedicated as the first vineyard in this part of the state. It will be known as State Historical Landmark No. 739.

The Jack London Park is composed of approximately 40 acres of rolling and wooded hills above Glen Ellen. Here the California author built a home which he called the Wolf House, but which burned to its stone walls in 1913, just about six weeks before London and his family were to have moved in. Part of the acreage was purchased by the state, and part given to the state by Irving Shepard, London's nephew.

The county has now completed a road into the park. At the end of this road is a parking lot, and nearby is the House of Happy Walls, built for Charmian London, who occupied it after her husband's death. This is now being turned into a museum which will feature the South Sea Islands collection which London brought back from his cruise of the Snark. There also will be original illustrations from London's books, and other rare items.

Nearby also is London's grave, while at a more distant point in the park stand the gaunt ruins of the Wolf House.

The festival will begin with a performance of the mission pageant Sept. 23, followed by a vintage festival costume ball. Sept. 24, in addition to the dedications, there will be the traditional blessing of the grapes ceremony, another performance of the pageant, a concert by the Community Chorus, a fiesta dance, art, flower and craft shows, and other attractions.

Sept. 25 will feature folk dancing in the plaza, a children's parade, a repeat performance by the Community Chorus and a band concert.

Last Lusitania Officer Remembers Disaster

STOCKTON (AP)—Retirement, with idle days of sketching ships and gardening, haven't dimmed Capt. John Lewis' memory of the day off the Old Head of Kinsale, Ireland, when the torpedo hit.

Nor has the last surviving officer of the Lusitania forgotten the sudden roar of water that followed and the plaintive — and unanswered — cries for help.

Capt. Lewis, then third officer of the liner, celebrated his 75th birthday yesterday. He recounted some of the anguished, confused moments which followed that torpedo's explosion May 7, 1915.

Eighteen minutes after the German submarine's torpedo exploded, the ship sank with the loss of 1,134 lives, including 114 Americans. The incident has been classed as one of the all time maritime disasters, and helped push the United States into World War I.

Lewis, who lives in a small white bungalow here, said he spent six hours in the water clinging to a book-sized chunk of debris waiting for rescue.

Lewis joined the Cunard Line in 1914 and shortly thereafter was assigned to the Lusitania as third officer. When a torpedo's warhead exploded in the ship's side May 7, Lewis took charge of the lifeboats on the starboard side.

As the water washed over the decks, he spotted a tiny, gold watch, about the size of a quarter being swept along.

The timepiece is his only momento of the occasion.

Three other ship's officers survived the sinking. But only Lewis, who describes himself as the Ancient Warrior, has survived the succeeding years.

Shortly after the sinking, Lewis was promoted to captain and later to superintedent of the Cunard piers in New York. He retired in 1950.

Cunard Lines was tried on negligence charges following the Lusitania disaster. During the proceedings, Lewis was on the stand and asked how he left the ship.

Lewis replied to the judge advocate:

"I didn't leave, sir. She left me."

Audubon Unit To Open Fall Meetings

Regular meetings of the Marin Audubon Society will open for the fall on Friday, Sept. 2, at the College of Marin.

All interested residents of Marin are invited. The meetings will be held in Room 40 of the Chemistry Building at 8 p.m.

Jerry Conners, a young Marin zoologist, will show a color film with his own narration on "a 10-month trip to South America." From Marin, Jerry hitch-hiked to Panama and later traveled down the Patunayo River, a tributary of the Amazon.

His trip into the Andes to the land of the Inca Indians was followed by an exciting raft trip down the Atrato River in Columbia.

A color slide review of birds to be seen on the Black Point field trip set for Saturday, Sept. 10, will be shown after a short business meeting conducted by newly elected President L. Martin Griffin Jr.

Many new members who have joined the Marin Audubon Society since last May will be welcomed at a reception for all members following the program.
